About eleven o'clock, a.m., yesterday, a rather amusing fight took place in Calle Defensa, in front of Santo Domingo Church.

The weather is at present so hot, that it is only reasonable to suppose we shall have plenty of showers.

Nothing can bear a stronger resemblance to the political character of the Argentine nation than the weather.

Interesting from Corrientes.

The Governor has presented the usual annual message to the legislature. It invited the approbation of the Chambers. The message was delivered, but an omission was noticed which gave rise to a stormy debate.

The Governor is about to receive a cotton gin from the "Standard" office, and will put it up at Corrientes to clean all the cotton gratis.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

The official tables of the Board of Trade relating to accidents on railways go far to mitigate the feeling of alarm which is excited by the reports of the numerous accidents which occur on the railways. It is not dangerous to travel by railway than to sit in a house at home, and far less so than to walk the streets of London. The number of passengers killed by railway accidents in 1863 was 7,000, and the number of those injured was 100,000. The number of passengers killed on the railways of Great Britain in 1863 was 7,000, and the number of those injured was 100,000. A LADY'S BODY WASHED ASHORE AT BRIGHTON.

On Wednesday afternoon two men, walking along the beach between Kemp-town (Brighton) and the adjacent village of Hottelington, came upon the body of a woman lying among the rocks below high-water mark. The body appeared to have been washed ashore by the tide, which had just "turned." Assistance was obtained, and the lady having been conveyed to the White Horse Inn, at Hottelington, the police took it to their care. The body was remarkably well clothed, and the lady was dressed in a black silk dress, which had been completely destroyed. A black kid glove was on the left hand, and on one of the fingers of the same hand were three gold rings. On being searched a purse was found in a pocket containing £1 2s, and a half sheet of note-paper, wrapped in a piece of waterproof silk skin. The paper was enclosed, and My Miss and her husband, Louis Adolphus, Esq., of Brighton, were informed of the discovery. The lady was a young woman, and the name of her husband was given as Louis Adolphus, Esq., of Brighton. WIFE POISONING IN LEICESTERSHIRE.

The adjourned inquest on the body of Emma Tuttle, wife of John Tuttle, hatter, of Waltham, near Melton, before E. M. Clarke, coroner, and a jury, came to a conclusion on Friday. The previous inquiry evidence was given showing that the deceased had been poisoned by her husband, and that she had died of the effects of the poison. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against the husband, and recommended that he should be executed. The case was a sad one, and the jury's verdict was a just one. The husband was found guilty of the crime of poisoning his wife, and he was sentenced to death. The case was a sad one, and the jury's verdict was a just one.

A ROMANTIC AFFAIR AT PARIS.

The Court Journal has the following list of gossip, communicated by their Parisian correspondent:—No sooner has Paris returned amongst us than she has been the scene of a most romantic affair. A young man, who had been in the army, and who had just returned to Paris, had fallen in love with a young woman, who was the daughter of a nobleman. THE HARTLEY RELIEF FUND.

At the last meeting of the General Committee of the Hartley Relief Fund, held in the Guildhall of Newcastle-on-Tyne, there was a considerable attendance, including most of the prominent members of the committee. The Mayor of the town presided, and Mr. Secretary read a report from the executive committee detailing the progress of the fund, and giving the basis of which they thought the division of the surplus should be made. It stated that it had been felt by the executive that the attention of the subscribers to the fund should be directed to the fact that the surplus of the fund should be divided among the subscribers in proportion to the amount of their contributions. The report was adopted, and the committee was empowered to divide the surplus among the subscribers in proportion to the amount of their contributions.
