At least a million men will not believe... SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1864.

REPEAL OF THE UNION

Nothing can be more familiar to the ears of every class of Britanics, than the once-famous "Repeal of the Union." Time was when meetings were held and speeches made to electrify Ireland and terrify England...

There can be no doubt that the "Repeal of the Act of Union" would at the present age be one of the greatest boons to Ireland, as it would restore to her, her Parliament and Executive, and render her less dependent on England...

Blind to their own interests, deceived by a set of superficial politicians, the Argentine Repealers are labouring to effect what the Irish complain of, namely, the removal of the Parliament and Government Offices.

If the present political "farum" had its origin in Rosario or Páramo, if the "crisis" were the provincial, and the "crisis" Potoséna, we could better understand the cause of political strife...

Englishmen opposed the "Repeal of the Union," on the ground that it would divide authority and defeat the concentration of power, which was established in London, but here we have a lot of will gone politicians, calling for a "Repeal of the Union" without knowing its consequences.

The "Repeal of the Argentine Act of Union" would be a death stroke to Buenos Ayres; it would rob the city of a large portion of its trade; it would give rise to all sorts of differential lines, tariffs, and duties; it would inevitably lead to another revolution.

Dr. Alherdi tries to prove, by theory, that the Argentine Republic, with the capital in Buenos Ayres, is a moral impossibility; but we have already had the experience of more than a year and a half of the working of the system, and frankly we say, that to our mind Fortea has the least cause to complain.

Editorial Table... The steamer 31 is the talk of the day. Crowds were down on the Mole yesterday watching the news from Martín García.

Hector V. Varela... Whatever may be the opinion of Argentines respecting the "Standard" paper, neither the language nor principles of which they have the means of forming a correct judgment...

The Liverpool Advertiser... The Liverpool Advertiser, it appears to be the only paper in England which makes room for the most notorious attacks on this country.

The Times... The Times, it is well known, is a paper which is not only read in England, but also in every part of the world.

The Liverpool Advertiser... The Liverpool Advertiser, it appears to be the only paper in England which makes room for the most notorious attacks on this country.

Dismissing in the extreme are these titles, which not even satiated with attacking men in public places, must stoop to libel a man's wife or relations.

Hector V. Varela has spent almost that time in Europe; he has now returned to his native country; it is the principal editor of a journal which more than any other in this country, enjoys the greatest circulation in the city.

Hector Varela, the "Standard" calls upon you to declare yourself. Are you for supporting the present Government, maintaining peace, fostering industry, and crushing revolution?

Candidly speaking, we do not think you capable of acting such a part. If you look over the files of the "Standard" you will find that when your character was assailed, owing to charges of legerie, &c., against third parties, the "Standard" always defended your reputation and denied your complicity with you.

STATE OF THE CAMP... The camps at Pilar, the other side of the river, are in splendid condition.

In Arceles, San Pedro, and San Nicolás the camps are in splendid condition.

In Bragado it is rumored that an Englishman who sent out 6000 sheep a few weeks past lost over 3000.

In Arceles and Rancho the camps are not so bad as in the north.

The Rincón de Campana camps are said to be in excellent condition, and many farmers are sending their flocks down to that part.

THE PORTENA

Montevideo, Jan. 7th, 1864. We the undersigned passengers on board the British barque Portena at Montevideo, wish to express our hearty thanks to Divine Providence for guiding us safely to our journey's end.

COTTON SUPPLY ASSOCIATION

Office, No. 1 Newell's Building, Manchester, Dec. 26th, 1863. Dear Sir, Your esteemed communication came to hand in due course, and was laid before our Executive Committee, by whom it was passed with much interest.

The Com. will be always glad to receive your suggestions. Thank you for your list. I am, dear Sir, your truly, J. S. WATTS.

NEW YORK WOOL MARKET

November 27th, 1863. There has not been the same activity in business the past month, as in the two preceding. Money, which had been abundant and cheap, gradually tightened, forcing the rate up to 7 per cent for good securities.

At Montevideo, in all probability a battle will first be fought there. The expedition to Texas, under General Flores, has arrived at Buenos Ayres, and the illicit trade there by blockade runners will be seriously interfered with.

In Navaro we hear that there are several flocks of sheep offered for sale at five dollars each.

In Lobos it has rained, and the grass is coming; the farmers are in hopes.

Such is the province which has been brought to the verge of ruin by a petty, insignificant and unscrupulous party...

San Juan is quiet and dedicating all the energies of her people towards developing her mineral riches.

Mendoza is slowly recovering from the prostration caused by the earthquake and two years of misgovernment.

Eight vessels entered the port of Rosario during the month of December and twenty six sailed and are expected to arrive during the month of January.

An important item in a commercial way is the fact of a wine trade having been opened between Mendoza, San Juan, Rioja and Rosario.

People have at last opened their eyes to this business which will soon assume very important dimensions.

The wines of Rioja are equal to the best of France and Spain, and we have a sample now before us when in England, would be worth fifteen shillings the gallon, as it is to be bought here for three and sixpence.
