Our Indian Frontier

Never since the date of independence has an occasion offered when the attention of B. Ayren legislators was so imperatively called to the Indian frontier as at present.

Out of Joint

If ever there was a country, a people, a nation, a free and enlightened Republic out of joint, it is the Argentine Republic.

Editor's Table

We are happy to learn that it has rained copiously in the north during the last few days, but in many parts of Pilar and the Capilla del Señor, the crops are getting worse and worse daily.

At Trip by Rail to Itaugua

Asunción, Dec. 27, 1883. The pleasant excursion from Asunción, without doubt, by rail to Itaugua. The regular train ran only on Sunday and in the afternoon of Thursday.

Erin on Sheep-farming

To the Editors of the 'Standard,' Gentlemen. To put Erin's plan of stocking land in practice, we require that we have little scope of obtaining our land sown from tressers.

number to adventure beyond the beaten track of overstocked pastures. A large flock will return, when the evil has been less than the good.

Meanwhile land in the central districts will fall to its real value, and farmers will avoid overstocking, or provide for an increased number of sheep by growing alfalfa. Large fortunes will no longer be left to depend on the hazard of a rainy season.

Erin on Sheep-farming

The number of sheep Erin allots to a league is quite sufficient, perhaps more than sufficient. This year we will tell a 'cruel' politician, 'Erin's' calculations will be insufficient in practice, and while the province is under the influence of men, who care less for the loss of fifty thousand sheep to the country, than for the loss of one vote in their party.

Siege of Paysandú

The action of Montevideo, 19th inst., contains two lengthened despatches. One from D. Leandro Gomez, the defender of Paysandú, Caraballo Flores himself coming on the 6th, and seizing the harbour, which is distant half a league from the plaza and could not be defended.

Erin on Sheep-farming

I shall not mention the various barbarities that had to endure until half-past nine p.m., when I was sent to the police, and where I remained until seven p.m. of Saturday, as the Cacique de la Boca had presented no charge against me, although repeatedly requested to do so.

Erin on Sheep-farming

As my case has been lately before the National Government, I trust that I should be able to vindicate this power of brute, who, as for so long, held life and death in his hand.

hardships insupportable in leaving their homes, and driving their flocks out to sea. I know where, because the camps have been less than the good.

In fact, in a word, we are all out of joint. In fact, in a word, we are all out of joint. In fact, in a word, we are all out of joint.

arrived from Navarro yesterday, stating that all along the road the dust was perfectly insupportable, and yet on Wednesday Thursday we had no dust whatever into town.

Mr. Vincent, the proprietor of the Hotel de la Paix, has requested us to say, that he has always had a luggage-room at his establishment for the accommodation of visitors, and that three-fourths of the English foreigners, who are travelling through this and the neighbouring provinces, have their trunks, &c., at his luggage-room, well cared for until their return, free of charge.

is very handsome, quite stately, and from the upper windows a beautiful view is obtained, of the lake on one side and the hills on the other.

This railway was commenced in 1859, and the works (under the direction of Messrs. Burrell and Valpy, with Mr. Thompson, as assistant-engineer), are already pushed as far as Paraguarí and the Cordillera.

Now, to procure witnesses—which is frequently very difficult to foreigners—you must lose at least another week. Admitting that you prove the case, beyond a doubt, the sentence, if in your favour, invariably is—'turn off Mr. A.—'s cattle, or Mr. B.—'s mules, whom you find them on your land, and can prove such, but do so with care; don't run them, or put them one yard beyond your bounds.'

Until the Provincial Government pay more attention to the camp, and less to 'cruel' politicians, 'Erin's' calculations will be insufficient in practice, and while the province is under the influence of men, who care less for the loss of fifty thousand sheep to the country, than for the loss of one vote in their party.
