ENGLISH PACKET REVIEW.

OUR POLITICAL CHAPTER.

There are many foreigners in the habit of saying "Buenos Ayres will be a fine country, one thousand years hence," as if this and the other S. American republics were destined to undergo a long period of industrial lethargy and political disorder, before taking their places among the rising nations of Christendom.

As a straw indicates the direction of the current, so we may prognosticate much from the result of the late elections. Six deputies were to be elected to Congress, for this province, and two lists of candidates were drawn up by the rival Clubs which arrogated to themselves the right of directing the public mind.

At the same time Governor Saavedra was unfortunately induced by his minister Acosta and other anti-nationalists to declare open hostility to the President's policy, and the national official organ mentions cases in which the Provincial authorities threatened to shoot or banish to the frontier any person who voted in opposition to Sr. Acosta's wishes.

Grave fears were entertained of a riot in the city as had happened shortly before when some lives were lost, on the day of election. But President Mitre took suitable precautions, and the riot was defeated without any serious disorder.

The present state of the Argentine provinces is all that could be desired; peace reigns throughout this immense territory, industrial pursuits occupy the inhabitants, trade is reviving, and in fact everything is beginning to look better with us. In the province of San Juan the greatest activity is noticeable. Mr. Rickard has arrived out with his machinery. The three factories are completed. A third call of 25 per cent has been made on the stock, so as to enable the company to purchase quartz. Under the auspices of Mr. Rickard the of the 200 party seem in a rather prosperous condition. We have been informed by a gentleman recently arrived from San Juan that in the month of March it was expected the company would commence operations, but owing to the great distance and high freight to Buenos Ayres it was thought that the silver would be forwarded to Valparaiso for the present.

The National Government has just concluded a contract with the French engineering firm, Sardaoux and Co, for making Artisan mills in the province of Rioja. It is a happy omen to find the public money now being sunk in industrial pursuits, where recently two 8000 silver were wasted to civil war.

Corrientes commands some interest even the optimistic hope of a small crop—say 1000 or 1500 sales. More important is in General Perro's mission to open a road through the Gran Chaco. This would be an immense gain to internal commerce, placing Corrientes and the upper Paraná within one fourth of the present distance from Salta and other provinces in the north.

This month although the sheoldest in the front line, and in many cases the most experienced in this country for the last fifty years.

The Western line progresses at a snail's pace in the works of prolongation, and will form a ridiculous contrast when Messrs Peto and Betts begin the line to the south.

The cool design which President Mitre displayed in suppressing all descriptions of disturbances at the late elections has tended greatly to increase confidence in his government, and the general opinion is that he will rule the country with a firm hand, and totally suppress the revolutionary spirit which it was feared was apparent.

The grievances complained of by the master of the English barket, Alham do not seem exaggerated. We have received a copy of the charter-party which we will publish in-morrow. So many tons should be discharged daily, at the vessel was left for an interval of thirty eight days without lighters.

There is still some talk of a duel between the fiery French editor and the Argentine officer "whose head was so given to shaking, that he could not fight with pistols." Surely they had better "shake hand" over the affair, which is the more ludicrous as Sr. Orma belonged to the Caudillo club, not to the one attacked by Le Progress.

The opera of Rigoletto on Wednesday evening was poorly attended, the audience hardly numbering 600. Mme. Brindley sang with her usual success, and was called before the curtain after the 2nd act. Lelmi broke down once, but retrieved himself in the chaussonette "La donna è mobile," when Mello's graceful acting elicited great applause. Celestino played Rigoletto almost as well as we could have expected from Mirate, for whom Verdi is said to have composed this opera.

The acrobats, Dusley brothers, perform Zamperocerosi and other feats in the Colón Theatre on Sunday evening. We were glad they have recovered from their recent accidents, and learn that they exceed the famous Leas brothers. On the same night the French Buffles play at the Victoria.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 25, 1861. The market holds out prospects of more activity during the coming month...

We have but little to remark of our market, this month, it has scarcely changed since our last.

An increased demand has arisen for fabrics; sugars, and rice, especially of the better classes, are rising in price...

In liquors, only Holland gin, which is scarce, is in demand, although scarce, any thing being the season of its principal sale...

The better class of Bordeaux wines are scarce, and in request. We refer our readers to the following list:

Cognac - Arrivals are frequent, and prices are not improving. Sundry late (Bordeaux) have been sold at 21 and 22 dols. per gallon...

North American Tobacco - Namuel - Not much is asked for at the last price, at 100 dols. arroyo, duty paid...

Yerba Misericordia - Superior quality, good quality, and of every sale. Stocks are much reduced, 300 packages at 6 dols. per arroyo...

Yerba de San Juan - Superior quality, good quality, and of every sale. Stocks are much reduced, 300 packages at 6 dols. per arroyo...
