Great and Useful Invention.
No more Mortality for want of Water.
Sure wealth to Estancieros
By the Robert Apparatus.
Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long (seas) that afflict the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at once simple and infallible for procuring as much water as they may require.

Unfailing Cure
for Scab and frost in Sheep, and every kind of diseases in horses and other animals.
Calvert's Phenylene and Terbanes.
In addition to the satisfactory account we have received of the success of this specific from all parts of the camp, in its application to the cure of Sheep, we can say that it has been equally successful in treating soreheads and other diseases in horses. In fact, it is a specific for all kinds of sickness in domestic animals.

Flores' Movements

The Republic, 22nd inst, has letters from Canelones and Guadalupe to the 21st; on the day previous, reconnaissance had been made along the Santa Lucia, without meeting with any rebels...

Col. Barros writes from Canelones 22nd inst 7 p.m. that he received despatches from Gen. Gomez, dated 20th inst, he d quarters at Villaboa on the Y, informing him that he (Gomez) had learned from 'barrios' couriers the direction taken by Flores, and that Lamas was about to join the main body same day...

Col. Valdez informs Gen. Moreno that the filibuster Borges was said to have appeared on the 21st at Seballas, but this news was incorrect.

Don Leandro Gomez of Paysandu states that Capt. Cortes, on the 15th inst, set out on an excursion North of the Queguay river, and in four days captured some horses and killed the filibuster chief Martinez.

precious as we learn from one of his relatives. He was a very sober man, and returning from the estancia house of D. Domingo Martinez with the wool money there paid him, is likely he was murdered. His body when taken, from the well, showed some injury on the neck, and was speedily buried, without a coffin, before any of the Irish neighbors missed him.

The able and violent attacks on Pres. Mitre in the Nacional are said not to be the production of Messrs. Keen and D'Amico, but of Dr. Velaz Sarisfield. The Nacional Argentina returns the compliment on Minister Acosta.

We learn that the camps near San Pedro are in good condition. Indeed the whole country is recovering from the effects of the late drought, and Irish farmers are wiser, if not richer, than before.

Major Basso, a member of the Club Libertad, has demanded his dismissal from the Argentine army. It seems Gen. Gelly played him a practical joke, sending him orders to come from Tandil in all haste.

Monsieur Le Long, as usual, writes a long letter in the Tribuna packet No. on Emigration. The idea is very good, but our colleague has a very limited circulation in Europe.

Appel to Protestant Sympathy. A melancholy occurrence, during a recent visit to the Department of Colonia, brought the writer into contact with the colony of the Waldenses...

The colony in question, situated on the banks of the River Plate, some ten or twelve leagues to the south of Colonia del Sacramento, was founded about five years ago, and now consists of 97 families, say, in round numbers, 600 souls...

This colony is to the Oriental Republic what the Scotch colony of Montevideo should have been to Buenos Ayres, and probably would have been, but for our unfortunate civil dissensions.

The Scotch colony was essentially, indeed avowedly, a model institution. The Messrs. Robertson, with the most disinterested and patriotic views, wished to import into these countries a section of Europe, full of bloom if we may be allowed the expression...

These blunders, our brethren the Waldenses prudently avoided. Their undertaking is one of primitive simplicity, the direct application of human industry to the soil.

As an industrial undertaking, we can hardly fancy a more efficient organization. We have the right men in the right place, and on the right footing.

Another consideration, and not a secondary one, is the benefit that may accrue to the Protestants, of different denominations and nationalities, settled in the neighbourhood of this colony.

The difference of language, we are aware, is a formidable difficulty; but even that may in part be surmounted, by adopting the language of the country, in which all are interested, and sooner or later, acquire a certain proficiency.

What we propose, then, is a simultaneous effort in all the Protestant communities of the Plate to aid our brethren, the Waldenses, in bettering the condition of their Church, their Parsonage, and their School.

reception, and the modest and much-needed refreshment placed before us, the writer has only to observe, that he hopes to see them amply requited, by a liberal response to the present appeal; which originated in that short interview, and is now submitted to his protestant brethren, under a deep sense of duty.

Could any of our readers, even those that most decry the pomp and vanity of the world, rest contented with their pastor or clergyman reduced to this low grade in the social scale? We can answer that there is not one.

In fact, their social and moral worth is already known and duly appreciated by their neighbours, who speak a different language and profess a different creed.

These pleas are applicable to all Protestants, but there is a special plea, with a special adaptation to the descendants of the Covenanters.

Another consideration, and not a secondary one, is the benefit that may accrue to the Protestants, of different denominations and nationalities, settled in the neighbourhood of this colony.

The difference of language, we are aware, is a formidable difficulty; but even that may in part be surmounted, by adopting the language of the country, in which all are interested, and sooner or later, acquire a certain proficiency.

institution, of intrinsic merit, and with strong claims to our sympathy, both for what it is, and what it may do in favour of the general cause.

The initiative, then, in our humble opinion belongs of right to the Protestant clergymen resident in this city. Let them call a preliminary public meeting, to sanction the measure, and appoint a committee to carry out its resolutions, and half the victory is achieved.

Assuming, then, that two points, its importance and practicability, are clearly established, we drop our pen for the present, only regretting that the advocacy of so good a cause had not fallen into able hands.

IMPORTANT MEETING. Last night a meeting of the Juvenile Club was announced to discuss 'important affairs.'

The last speaker was frequently interrupted by loud and prolonged applause; and the role of the meeting being taken, the chairman said that steps would be taken to ensure the juveniles in future their political rights.

EDITORIAL COURTESIES. We publish the following animated correspondence between the editors of 'Le Progres' and 'El Nacional,' consequent on the late election squabbles.

Mr. C. D'Amico, Editor of the 'Nacional.'

Sir, At different times, and on various pretexts, you have heaped insult and calumny on the editors of the French newspaper, 'Le Progres.' I wish to explain myself: it is not such and such articles that I wish you to retract. That is a bare and low action, which is done every day, in every line of your newspaper, and which renders a national question a personal one, in which our journal, the 'Progres,' insulted a score of times, seems to be the insurer.

J. B. GAILLARD. J. P. Guillard, Editor of the 'Progres.'

THE BARQUE JHELIUM. CHARTER PARTY. London, 15th August, 1863.

It is this day mutually agreed between Messrs. Widdicombe and Bell, owners of the good ship or vessel called the 'Jhelum,' A 1, and coppered, of the register measurement of 424 tons, or thereabouts, now in Liverpool, and Messrs. C. De Marietta and Co. of London, merchants—That the said ship, being tight, staunch, strong, and every way fitted for the voyage, shall, with all convenient speed, sail and proceed to such dock or loading berth in Newport, Monmouthshire, as ordered by charterers' agents, or so near thereunto as she may safely get, and there load, as customary, from the agents of the said merchants, a full and complete cargo of iron and coke, say four hundred and forty tons Barrow rails and fittings, and fill up with coke, which the said merchants bind themselves to ship, not exceeding what she can reasonably stow and carry over and above her tackle, apparel, provisions, and furniture, including a sufficient supply of coals for ship's use during the voyage, to be endorsed on bill of lading, which documents the master will be obliged to sign for the quantity shipped; and being so loaded shall therewith proceed to Buenos Ayres direct, or so near thereunto as she may safely get, and there deliver the same on being paid freight on the quantity delivered, at and after the rate of Thirty-five shillings per ton of 20 cwt. for iron. Forty-five shillings per ton of 20 cwt. for coke. In full of all port charges whatever, primage, consular, trimming and wharfage on cargo, and lights and pilotage (the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, frosts, and all and every other dangers and accidents of the seas, rivers, and navigation of whatsoever nature or kind always excepted). The freight to be advanced to the charterers on sailing, subject to five per cent. for interest and insurance, and the remainder on unloading and right delivery of the cargo, in good and approved bills on London at ninety days sight, or in cash equal thereto, at current rate of exchange at consignee's option. The vessel to be loaded in regular term at Newport, and to be discharged at the average rate of twenty-five tons of coals or iron, or seventeen and a half tons of coke, per working day, and fifteen days on demurrage, over and above the said laying days to be allowed by the ship, at eight pounds per day.

The charterers to have the option of employing labourers for trimming the cargo, at the usual wages of the port, and at the expense of the ship. The ship to be consigned to charterers' agents at port of discharge, inwards and outwards, paying 2 1/2 per cent. commission on the amount of freight, per this charter party inwards and outwards, on usual terms. The commission outwards to be charged only in case the vessel is chartered in the River Plate. This charter being concluded by Messrs. C. De Marietta and Co., on behalf of others, it is agreed that all liability of the former, in every respect, and as to all matters and things, as well before as after the shipping of said cargo, shall cease as soon as they have shipped the cargo, and paid the advance of freight.

Penalty, for non-performance of this agreement, the estimated amount of freight. The brokerage of 5 per cent. on the freight, under this charter party, is due on signing hereof to Messrs. Austin, Brothers.
