SANTA FE CAMPS.

So much has been said both for and against the lands of Santa Fe that we think it right to offer a few remarks on this vexed question.

Along the Arroyo Medio, on the Santa Fe side, the country is covered with the very choicest 'graminis,' although there is scarcely a sheep 'puesto' in the neighborhood.

On the coast of banks of the Carraña the grasses are mixed—here and there patches of the best grass which shepherds so much dread.

The Carraña is a strong rapid stream with perpendicular banks, which renders it in places almost useless to the estancia as a place for watering sheep or cattle.

It is a pity up to these times, none of which are distant over ten leagues from Rosario. The land laws are considerably better than those of Buenos Ayres.

We have the Reforma to Saturday 18th inst. The Sr. Moreno has accepted the post of Generalissimo.

The Reforma attacks the Standard for having thrown discredit on the rumored conspiracy of Messrs. Alsina, Varela, Delcampio and others to hang President Mitre and two of his ministers.

The cause alleged by Servando Gomez for resigning the chief command is ill-health. Government has returned him thanks for his services.

The commander of the Villa Silita writes under date March 26th, that he has two companies, on the 3rd inst., and aided by Captain Arce, succeeded in capturing the filibuster chief, Vargas.

REPUBLICAN MAILS.

We expect the English mails to-day from Southampton, February 9th. Our supplements will be distributed at the houses of subscribers, immediately on arrival.

From a foreign estancia recently written from the partido 25 de Mayo, we learn that the camps out there are in splendid condition, and the sheep farmers doing well.

The Dotoral and Pote, H.M.B.S., have arrived at Montevideo. We have to salute the Rev. Mr. Clemenger and Dr. Sweetman, of the latter vessel, who visited us yesterday, and intend remaining a short time in this city.

It is 1861 there were 1210 fine rams and ewes imported, of a gross value of 1,982,139 dols.

The Dotoral arrived on Sunday morning, but brings nothing new from Montevideo. As to Flores, he is said to be sojourning about Salto, but the state of the camp is truly awful.

We regret to say that, notwithstanding the repeated efforts of the night riders, the body of the unfortunate Sr. Buchanan has not been found.

The non-arrival of the Mercedes yesterday leaves rather scarce news, as nothing is coming stirring about town.

but this year we are obliged to invest in coal. On Sunday the heat was excessive and yesterday it was unappreciably hot.

There has been a terrible row in Entre Rios about appointing a Juez de Paz. In Gualeguaychu the most stormy debates arose in the Legislature on the subject; but, now, the appointment matter is settled, but owing to the extreme length of the speeches, and the swiftness of the weather, we have been unable to discover which way the matter was decided.

The Guelow and Pote, H.M.B.S., have arrived at Montevideo. We have to salute the Rev. Mr. Clemenger and Dr. Sweetman, of the latter vessel, who visited us yesterday, and intend remaining a short time in this city.

scape gardener who has had much experience at Cayenne and in Brazil.

The liberality of Sr. Lozano in allowing his model quinta to be a kind of city park, and keeping it up at enormous expense, is a striking contrast with the miserable shabbiness of Government in suffering Palermo to be ruined. There is nothing so much wanted in Buenos Ayres as a public promenade and the residence of Rosas, at a trivial expense, might be made, to rival the Bois de Boulogne, Monte Pucio, Tottenham or Phoenix Park.

U. States Legation, B. Ayres, March 9th, 1861. To His Excellency Dr. Elizalde, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

I have the honor to enclose you copy of a letter which I received per last mail, in answer to one that I sent you in Buenos Aires, in reference to the same.

Accept my assurances &c. ROBERT C. KIRK, State Department, Washington, Nov. 14th 1859. To Mr. Robert C. Kirk.

I have received your note July 6th. The friendly manifestations towards the U. States, on the part of the Argentine Government, on the anniversary of American Independence, have been received with great satisfaction by the President, and I assure the N. American people, will appreciate and return the same.

I am, &c. W. H. SEWARD, Department of F. Affairs, B. Ayres, March 9th, 1861. To the American Minister, Mr. R. C. Kirk.

I have had the honor to receive, with your note of 3rd inst, the copy of Mr. Seward's to you, expressing the satisfaction of the Government for the spontaneous demonstrations of the Argentine Government and people on the anniversary of American Independence.

currency, dust, want of drinking water, and now come the locusts. The districts away to the west are the principal sufferers, so far.

Consolation.—The 'Tribuna' of yesterday has some verses published in its columns. The argument of these lines is to give a reason for a general election getting his right cut—for the Indian's descent upon 25 de Mayo—for the Club Liberal using the elections for the delivery of the constitution, and for all the petty excitements which happen on the Northern Railway. The 'Tribuna' thrusts down upon its head and shouts 'Ola! Ola! there is no cause, and the 'Nation' utters its dissenting opinion to its soul that many a better man has been reviled and despised by his rivals. And with respect to the sleep-compelling nature of its columns, if being in the same box with a world-known author he any consolation to it, we can administer that sleep physic. When the 'Waxing' notes were first published, and the author was not known, Sr. Walter was one day walking with his old companion, Tom Ardie, the gamekeeper of Abbotsford, and the conversation happened to turn upon the magical works which were astonishing the world, Tom Pardie gave his quota of praise, saying 'They're grand when they hang round the camp, I can't sleep, I've just taken up an of the books, and I gang aff like winkle.'

The Southern Railway.—According to rumors, this railway is to be a laborer of laborers, in spite of the high wages which are offered. Were a thousand laborers to arrive just now they would be immediately employed.

What is not seen in the Northern States.—It will be many a long day, in spite of all that Horace Greeley or old Adam Sowe may write, or Henry Ward Beecher may rant, or any other goods store will have the courage to do as one of that fraternity has done in Buenos Ayres, and that is advertise 'The best kind of goods for sale' in a vulgar and unbecoming manner. Letting alone the bad grammar, it is rather a plucky thing to hint that negroes can be supplied with goods at the same establishment which furnishes articles for 'white trade.'

Markets.—On the 11th inst. the following produce entered the various 'plazas' of this city:—Woolwines 132, 1/2 bushels, 98; sheepskins 67, 1/2; muttons 40, 1/2; lambs 100, 1/2; pesches 9,000; castles, quinces 12,000.

The Italian Legion is under marching orders for Azul. It is a pity that if these fellows are so fond of soldiering as to enlist under a foreign flag, that they do not stay at home and join their native countrymen, Garibaldi. With him they were more likely to see fighting and hard knocks than here; but, perhaps, this does not agree with their stomachs, and they prefer idling at soldiers in their own work. Sensible individuals!

Major Forrest.—This gallant gentleman having demanded his dismissal from the Argentine army, because repeatedly striking one Argentine soldier fraudulently attempting to negotiate a bill on their firm. Messrs. Calderon have purchased an estancia close to Mr. 'Dongall's' on El Gualeguaychu.

LOCAL EVENTS.—A few evenings ago a native 'ran' named 'The Calles' was taken up on the banks of the Rio Uruguay. He mounted a splendid horse, and galloping along the street, wounded several persons, and in the process happened to come in his way. His horse was a woman, and altogether there were five people wounded. The sereno, gave chase, and with their usual good luck, managed not to catch him.

Maritime News.—The pilot boat, Catalan entered Montevideo on the 6th inst., from the Punta de Arce, with cargo saved from a vessel wrecked in that place.

Notice.—The crowd of carts and bullocks in Calle Chacabuco always stand in the middle of the street, and require a small amount of nerve to pass within reach of the backs of these animals. Yesterday a poor woman was severely wounded by her severe kick, which she received from a bullock. Why are we not obliged by the police to put a hobble on the hind legs of these animals, and prevent the recurrence of such accidents?
