SALTO, ROJAS, & PERGAMINO

The partido of Salto is set down in the general table as of 98 leagues extent, but the commission limits it to 84: of this number a large portion consists of public lands, only 46 square leagues being assessed for Contribucion. Taxation has been more than doubled, last year, the returns being thus :-1862, (31,655; 1-63, $65,725. There are 34 estancias, averaging [leagues, of which o belong to Anglo-Irish settlers. The foreign estancieros arc-Bell 2 square leagues, Riddle 1, Patrick Murphy and Michael Mooney each $, and W. Murphy & a loague; in all 5 leagues, weith 24 millions dollars. Our countrymen in this district number about 500, paying $7,000 per annum. They own one-ninth of the land assessed, and possess an aggregate wealth of £150,000, or £300 sterling per head. The town of Salto is well built, there being 160 houses, valued over $10,000 cach, including 14 over $100,000. D. David Lanata's is set down at $300,000.

The non-arrival of the Mersey has left us very slack of news. We may, however, count upon her coming into port this morning.

We. Jearn from a municipal representative of the Lomas de Zunorra, that the outrages reported of that locality are exaggerated. An insignicant milk man was, it is true, murdered in broad day-light on the high road, but the man bore a bad character, for mixing water with the milk. As to robbing the farm-yards, it is a clauder, several cocks and hens being left in peacefut possession of their roosts.

in the chair. Mr Bates, author of the "Naturalist on the Amazon, (having been called upon by the chairman), said he was not able to speak very much about the province of Loreto, for, though he had been for eleven years of his life on the banks of the Amazon, he had never the mids. been in Peru. As, however, the most important topic of the paper appeared to relate to the Amezon, he thought he might perhaps be able to give the meeting a targe information. (Hear, hear.) He had ascended the Amazon from its mouth not once only, but several times. He advanced as far as the Peruvian frontier, being an ascent of 1,800 miles from the Atlantic. During the whole of this distance the breadth of the river is never less than half a-mile, and is very often as much as seven miles. Every inch of the banks of this great river has its versable waterland. in their own country. For the whole distance of 1,800 miles from the Atlantic the Amazon passes through Brazilian territory. The Brazilian provinces embracing the Amazon consist of ces embracing the Amazon consist of 300, 200 square miles, of the hyst fertile soil in the world, and he had frequently noticed in ascending the river a depta of from twenty to thirty feet of crambling vegetable mould. And yet this centary is almost destitute of population. Indeed, the population is hat little more than 240,000 souls, scarcely that of a second rate town in the United Kingdom. The most uninviting country of Europe is more thickly populationary of Europe is more thickly population. country of Europe is more thickly populated, for while even the stoppes of Archangel have four inhabitants to

The most interesting problem in connection with the extensive territories of the Amazon was how they were to be populated. Where was the population to be got from? The Government of Brazil strictly forbade the investment (Hear, hear.) They were desirous of encouraging emigration to that part of the empire, but he was afraid European emigration would be of little use. The question was not one which concerned the Brazilian nation only, but one which was of the greatest interest and importance to markind. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Bates concluded by expressing a hope that the great resources of these vast countries would soon be opened up to the commerce of the world. (Ap-

Mr. Wallace next addressed the meeting. He remarked that he did not know a great deal about Peru, though he had ascended the Amazon for about 1,000 miles. (Hear, hear,) during the four years he had been in the country of the Amazon, he had taken the greatest interest in its condition, and had also endeavoured in every way to acquire information regarding Peru. He was, however, best acquainted with the territories of the Amazon. One of the most interesting features of the country was the character of its surface. It was one immense forest; there was nothing like it in the known world. It was impossible to torest; there was nothing like it in the known world. It was impossible to convey an adequate idea of its vast magnitude. Such countries as England, France, and Germany might be thrown into it, and one might travel all his life through its muzes without happening

OUR DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH BRAZIL

Bome strange complication appears to have arisen in this unpleasant business. The speech of the Emperor of Brazil, on opening the Chambers, and the few words of explanation in the British House of Commons, are at variance, and it is difficult to say who is at fault. That the British Government frankly accepted the offer of mediation by the King of Portugal cannot be doubted, and the supposition at Rio de Janeiro that this was not the ease, may have arisen from some po case, may have arison from some pofitical intrigue, or the wish of the late accordance with what they believed to be Imperial conclusions, namely that an apology should rrecede nego-ciation for the renewal of friendly inctation for the renewal of recordly in-tercourse, and possibly injudicious ad-vice may have been given to the Emperor from this side by parties acting under a political bias. Whet-ever may have been the pause of this further misunderstanding, and however the first action taken by our Governthe first action taken by our Govern ment in this dispute may be objectionable, we think it cannot be denied that in accepting the mediation of the King of Portugal, they proved the sincerity of their desire to arrive at an honourable settlement. The reference of a dispute to third parties, is in modern times tantamount to the ad mission of cause for disagreement, nor has the British Government ever gain said the decision of the King of the Belgians in one part of this much to beriver is neyer less than half a-mile, and is very often as much as seven miles. Every inch of the banks of this great river has its vegetable production; it is covered with one matted forest, growing to a vast height, and presenting the most picturering and varied scenery. It is a very healthy country; and he had known Englishmen who had resided in Para, at the mouth of the river, and in other towns for thirty or forty years, and still pussessed the same florid complexion which they had by it. If we are to believe statements published in the Rio papers, an in-lumntial portion of Brazilians are satis-lied with a reference to the king of Portugal, and anxious that it should If we are to believe statements be carried out. Probably the an jounced change of Ministry may be the high binger of a conciliatory policy, in accordance with the friendly sentiments which really exist between the people of both countries; and we venture to predict in this case that their

A few unfortunte half-cooked crudes

who were accused of using fire-arms, were hotly pursued through the streets by a band of gauchos with drawn knives. They fortunately managed to rush into the Hotel de Comercio, where they effected an escape by scaling the walls; it was fortunate they were not caught by their ruthless pursuers, as there is no doubt they would have sacrificed them.

It is difficult to ascertain which party has been the aggressor—the crudos blame the Cocidos, while the latter assert the Crudos seeing small hopes of their gaining, considered it better to make an attempt to carry the poll by storm. The only conversation since then is Sunday's election. It is quite evident a strong party fee'ing exists. Much blame is attached to the editor of the 'Anigo del Pueblo,' better deserving the appellation ' Enemigo,' as since its origin up to the present it has been one mass of corruption and insult.

A VOICE PROT PAVON. April 11th, 1804.

To the Editor of the Standard. Sir,

As the columns of your widely circu-lated journal are ever open for camp news, no matter how triffing, I beg to occupy a corner therein with a few rural remarks.

The recent raise that have fallen about here have left our camps like one immense alfalfa field, having the same luxuriant appearance as the Buenes Ayrean camps were some five years ago Several flocks of sheep that were brought up here a few months ago in a most miscrable condition are now fat. The last that arrived here were some five thousand purchased from Mr. Thomas Gahan, Merlo and Navarro: they arrived in good condition, and with comparatively trifling loss, efter having travelled a distance of sixty leagues.

There is no possibility of buying renting land about here now, but perlittle further north can supply them selves with a good article.

Pavon is as peaceable a locality as any of the fluorus Ayrnan particles, and private property much more respected If any person's cattle should trespass on your land, you have only to inform the Comissary, whose duty it is to come instantly with half a dozon soldiers, shut in the cattle, and there and then inflict a fine of four silver reals (equivalent to cloven poper dollars) a head. This mode the natives themselves acknow edge to be an effectual cure ('santo emedio) and saves the annoyances of aw egits, There is plenty of good land for sale, and to be rented, about the Carearana: it is distant only ten leagues from Ro-sario. These lands offer a splendid opportunity to persons wishing to in-vest capital. As the place is adjacent to the river Parama, the carriage of word to Buenos Ayres will be only about two paper deliars the arraba.

Your Buenos Ayrega sleep farmer, should take advantage of this grand opportunity; and, as it is probable all the land about there will soon be purchased, I would advise my countrymen not to along a countrymen. not to sleep on the matter.
Yours truly,
A PAYONERO.

PARANA.

From Paratthere is nothing of any consequence whatever. The Littoral is perfectly barren of news; and the only thing mentioned in that news; aper is a direct denial on the part of Cot. Ibarra of his having received orders from Union to assassingte the partial. her is a tirect demail on the part of Col. > Perhaps in no part of the world have rernaps in no part of the world have these medicines obtained more fame than in Turkey and Syria. Pilgrims are employed to travel thousands of miles by agents established by Holloway at Constantinople, Alexandria, Beyrout, Tunis, Aleppo and various other towns, and who preach, if we may so term it. the benefits to be derived from these medicines. Holloway's Ointment and Pills are as well known to the trabs in the Desert as to the English themselves Let a British traveller, from curiosity, ask an Arab Chief if he has heard of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and he will, no doubt, immediately produce a hox or pot of them, with full directions for their use in Arabic. LOCAL EVENTS.

Cotton Gins.—We notice by the Ferro Carril of Rosario that Consul Hutchinton has half a dozen of these useful intruments for sale; the machi-nes are all put up in working order in a store near the Consulate - and the use of one of them is placed at the disposal of those to whom Cotton seed was distributed last year.

Races-We see the Argentine Jockey Races—We see the Argentine Jockey Olub advertises that the annual races will this year take place at Belgrano on Suuday the 17th inst, and again on Sunday the 24th inst Judging from the list of horses entered, there is every appearance of their being some good sport.

Markets-On the 12th inst. the following produce entered the different plazas of the city:—Cowhides 725, herschides 81, calfskins 22, sheepskins 480 doz., lambakins 20 doz., herschair 3 arrobes, wool 1390 do , wheat 191 fanegas, maiz 44 do , saudius 10 0, firer lanegas, maiz 4. wood 16 loads.

Exports -On the 11th inst. the Marie I ouise, for Havre, and the Baccu, for Antwerp, cleared out with 1939 bales wood, 1427 horsehides, 6500 cowides, 5000 horns, 713 pipes tallow, 1400 bales hide cuttings, 1300 ship banes, 3 pages alt.

then University College.
This Establishment, which from its formadation has been patronized by the principal British families of Buones Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education or mobined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An ever-watchful and constant super-in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An aver-watchini and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the papils are canofully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammer School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, itistory, Geography, Arthmetic, and Hookkeeping in all its parts, Writing, and Itoliygious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics. Gomma, Made and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.

The situation of the lengtish Grammar School, in one of the most delightful Quantas of the Calle Larga of Barracas, at the very gates of the city, is one of the most healthful and pleturosque of the environs of Buenes Ayrea,
