STERLING PATRIOTISM.

Public spirit is so rare, and party feeling so acrimonious in Buenos Ayres, that we gladly find a proof of patriotism and benevolence given by the much-abused Crudo party, in support of the National Government. General Mitre has not been so lucky in the council as in the field, and our experience of two years' financial administration shows that a crew is loose somewhere. New taxes have been invented, the resources of the country by a rapid and extraordinary increase have given additional revenues, the expenses of the State have been injudiciously diminished in some items, leaving our frontiers insecure, the currency of the country has suffered fearfully from a breach of public faith, and one Minister has succeeded another, only to tell us that his predecessor left the Exchequer on the verge of bankruptcy, and to promise reforms which we have never seen realized. The public is always suspicious, and apt to impute immorality even where such does not exist. We need not, therefore, be surprised to hear of folly, at every street-corner grumbling about Ministers growing rich, the Treasury growing poor, taxes on the increase, and new loans daily. It seems the National Government is at present somewhat like these linen drapers who once our English houses several hundred doubloons, and pay 400 depreciated dollars on account. Of course, without money no Government can stand, and affairs were near coming to a dead-lock, when the Crudo party came forward to rescue the very Government whose destruction they had just accused them of aiming at. To men of proof of friendship is to lend money to a friend under difficulties, and we begin to see that the ostensible split between President Mitre and Governor Saavedra was only a play got up to divert public attention from the more serious matter of a loan, which escaped all but the "Standard."

The National Government, we understand, is indebted in the following heavy items to the Province of Buenos Ayres:

Money advanced by the Bank 11 millions 500,000
Bills of exchange 10,000,000
Total 21,500,000
The interest on the above is 2,500,000 per annum.

Under such circumstances, the Finance Minister went to look for a new loan, and after treating with the Mau and River Plate Banks, he found better terms from the native merchants. Gov. Saavedra led the list with one million paper dollars, and the other capitalists, mostly Crudos, followed: Messrs. Pella, Livrallo, Guerrero, Leizaola, Hendo, Cano, Maza, Acha, Ferrer, Anchorena, and Accuanga are among the foremost names.

The amount is 14 millions of dollars, advanced on the security of Government house bills at interest 12 per cent. per annum. It seems one of the objections to Maun's terms was, that the Bank wanted to have power to liquidate every three months, whereas the present loan has no fixed period.

The affair, although not so far as could be regarded as a conclusion. Let us hope that this example of sterling patriotism may have a good effect, that it will calm the ruffled feelings of those who are not in the secrets of the State, that the public may have more money to spend, than to the color of electioneering candidates, and that the National Finance Minister may be able to place at his disposal so prudently as to be obliged to look for new loans, for some time to come.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Domestic calamities are on the increase. On Friday morning a respectable youth named Maximo—reading in this city, went to visit his lady lover near the Bonadanza, calle St. Fe, and a few minutes later retired to the rear of the premises. Presently the report of a pistol was heard and it was found the "innocent" had blown out his brains that he was supposed he ever had any. He was barely 18 years of age, and the cause of the rash act seems to have been a love quarrel.

The new loan of 14 million silver dollars to the National Government will probably relieve it from its present embarrassment. It is, however, strange that after taking up millions of paper, and passengers' luggage the exchequer is still so reduced. No country in the world pays such heavy impositions as this, and yet every successive Finance Minister has to send round the hat.

Mr. Wells has some idea of making an ascent from the Plaza Pajaral to his balcony at present on the roof of the Colon theatre. He says on ascent of two miles, into the clouds, is only a trifle, if he can get good gas. Sometimes our gas is miserable, and it is a question, in case of mishap, whether the ascent could be made by the Gas Company, since he clearly goes out of the Municipal jurisdiction. The Southern Railway is making splendid head way, and the earthwork is pushing on towards San Vicente, being already completed (almost totally) as far as the Lomas de Zamora. There are 400 navies at work, and notwithstanding the winter season, may hope soon to see the 1st and 2nd sections opened to traffic.

On Wednesday the local Chamber of Deputies will meet to ratify the recent elections of members for this province. It is said there will be a large majority in favour of legalising the elections, the Crudos being uppermost. The senators will meet a few days after; the result is at present doubtful, but if some Crudo senators come into town, in time, the elections will also be ratified in this Chamber.

We have received from the National Finance Office the Customs report for the year, ending December 31st 1860. As we will give the details in our next issue, we may merely give the principal items: Imports 4,501,000 dollars ($4,500,000); Exports, 220,402 dollars ($220,402); being approximately 40 to 35. In imports, the goods of precedence is England, France, Brazil, &c.; in exports, Belgium, France, England. Wool and sheepskins (the industry of Holland pure excellence) constitute more than all the other exports of the country put together, leaving a balance of over 3 millions. The Customs duties for 1862 are one hundred millions, or 2,000,000 sterling.

We do not hear of so many outrages as last week, as before yet it would be premature to suppose the suburbs are quiet. The police are doing their best to keep the city and camp in order. The Argentinian stables in the Plaza Victoria must be cleaned, and the sooner the better, for public health and the safety of the city. It is said that the Sor Aceaqui mission to Dublin, we undertake to procure him a couple of dozen of that force which has been sent by all Europe to the aid of the fleet body of men on the face of the Globe.

As no doubt many of our recently arrived correspondents will attend at the Argentine Club, today, we may give the probable result, judging from what we hear from some of our sporting friends. We do not recommend them to lay their bets on the race, but merely give this as the opinion of the table.

Estimado Stakes—Buenos Aires and Costa—40 are decidedly the favorite, and next follow San Juan, Chivengo, Quien Salvo, De Plata, Buenos Aires, all new horses, and our friends must look well to their condition before risking their money.

Porto Stakes—Griffa, late, Petrona 2nd, Tensado 3rd, Manuel Christó 4th, Nandu 5th. We believe that Gascho Polo does not run in this race, or else the result may possibly be different. In case he runs, we think he will be in the front place or very near.

National Stakes—Luzardo late, Pozo Imports 2nd, Chivengo 3rd. We have our doubts as to whether this race will run according to the programme.

Bolzano Stakes—Hellegras 1st, "cane" Polo 2nd, Saffron 3rd, E Polo 4th. This will be a most exciting race, and the result is, very doubtful; we however will bet a bottle of oil on our old friend Hellegras against the field.

THE LATE FIRE AT M. DEMARCHE'S.

With reference to our account, in yesterday's paper, M. Demarché has paid us a visit to request us to inspect his premises and the scene of conflagration. He seems to think there are some inaccuracies in our report; as let him maintain that he was aware of the fire, before we gave the alarm; 2ndly the blazing kitchen belonged not to him but to Sin Fernandez Quiroga; 3rdly, he claims a protest in the Municipality, as he has the most effective protection against fire. In answer to these statements we have to say:

1st. There was no one throwing water on the fire, when the editor and two companions of this paper went on the ascent; and when the former knocked at Mr. Demarché's lady, she overheard opened the window, to enquire what was the matter? The whistle was given up some minutes after, and the fire was the fire-bell, which the flames were extinguished.

2ndly. The blazing kitchen is under the same roof as M. Demarché, but Mrs. F. Quiroga, who is his mother-in-law, has a separate suite of apartments and to the kitchen, the kitchening of the house, which is his own, which was not blazing.

3rdly. It is certain that M. Demarché has great precautions against fire. He showed a large number of vases and pails full of water, also a fire-engine which he procured from London, always ready for his own use or that of his neighbors. Moreover, he has a large number of employees who sleep in the establishment, one of them a Lieutenant in the fire-brigade of the city. No doubt it was owing to these prompt means of aid, that the fire was so speedily got under; and no thanks are due either to the whistling siren or alarmed neighbors. The loss was turned on the lightning rod, within two minutes of M. Demarché's being roused from bed by his mother-in-law, who first perceived the fire (at least within doors), by a series of volleys from the dress-vase of smoke.

EL BARBERO DE SIVIGLA.

The performance of this opera on Friday evening gave general satisfaction. The house was not very full, although a large number of English were present. The curtain did not rise until a quarter before nine o'clock.

In the opening scene, the chorus was weak, and Lelmi rather out of voice, but the orchestra made up for such defects. The duo between Lelmi and Figaro was very good, Walter playing the "barber" with great spirit. "Cio invenzione" was much applauded. In act II. Lelmi impersonated the drunken soldier very feebly, as if totally inexperienced in the manner of a votary of Bacchus. But the charming Rossa was inimitable, and her dress, acting and singing, equally deserved praise. Celosina, who filled the part of Dr. Barbauld, and Don Basilio were both very good. We have seen "La calumnia" better defined at Colon, but the drollery of the piece very much relieved the actor's want of training. The music lesson of act III. was, of course, Miss Valle's excellent performance. She sang "Il Baccio" with the most captivating grace and effect, and was enthusiastically awarded. The barber was excellent in the above scene, and his apostrophe "Si o no" could not be better. Don Basilio improved notably in the scene "presto al letto," and the side-swinging company was with good taste. The orchestra throughout did full justice to Rossini's beautiful music. The final trio, "zitti, zitti, piano," was much applauded. In a word, M. Demarché, though not so brilliantly performed as Norma, nor possessing the grand scenic attractions of La Sirena, was executed with considerable taste, and Miss Valle received a splendid triumph in recognition of her graceful rendering of Rossa.

To-night La Sirena will be repeated, and the libretto is on sale at the Boleteria.

The Argentine Central Railway.

The "Times" speaking of this railway, says:—"It is one of the most important undertakings that has been started for many years, and it is supposed that it will be placed on the Stock Exchange to-morrow (7th March) under the auspices of the General Financial Association."

The capital guaranteed is £1,000,000, but only £1,000,000 is required at present. Seven per cent. is guaranteed by the Buenos Ayres National Government, whose credit is so firmly settled in this country by its punctuality in discharging its debts. The line is to be built by Messrs. Brown, Wythes, and Wheelwright, who have contracted for its whole extension at £5400 per mile. With the exception of the Atlantic Railway, and the Great Western, in the State of New York, it will be the longest railway that has ever been made; and as it runs for the 247 miles of its extension over a nearly level surface, its cost will be more moderate than any before.

The line is to run from the port of Rosario to the city of Córdoba, in the interior, and will be the first portion of the Argentine railway system to be completed. The climate of that region is like that of Europe, and the city of Córdoba is reputed to be the most healthy in the world, as no epidemics are known there.

Besides the 7 per cent. guaranteed, the Government has granted free nearly a million of acres along the line of road, one-half of which belongs to the shareholders, and the other half has been taken by the contractors. The traffic of the extensive silver mines will be carried by this line.

STATE OF EUROPE.

Two subjects of public interest—one of a purely local and the other of a more general character—are now dividing the attention of France. The question of local interest is the coming election in Paris; but this is diverted of much of its interest by the conduct of the French Government in dealing to maintain its own candidates. This policy, however, is by many looked upon as a very crafty one. An impression prevails that the Government intend to give the Opposition to nominate any candidate of its party may think fit, with the hope that some cause of division may arise, and thereby so reduce the strength of the Opposition as to give an official candidate a chance of election, should the Government at the last moment determine to nominate him.

The question of a more general character has reference to the probability of another Irish Alliance. With the existing restraints upon the Paris press, the journals, as might be expected, take a very cautious line of argument upon this subject; they are evidently anxious to avoid everything which appears like the commitment of France to an active policy, and merely suggest that as a compact between the great Powers of the North more nearly congenial to England than any other Power, to England must take the initiative in opposing it. The Emperor, the press, and even public opinion are all waiting and watching; the cry is "Anything to preserve peace," and yet a general belief prevails that war is inevitable. There is, however, a difference of opinion as to the existence of any treaty between the Northern Powers. La Patrie most confidently asserts that there is an engagement between Austria, Russia, and Prussia, and that the state of siege in Galicia, is the first effect of it. La France, on the other hand, denies the existence of such a treaty, but says that it is not officially known in Paris. A rumor is current in London, that M. Thouvenot is going to London on a special mission to ascertain the truth of the matter. The nature of that mission is, of course a secret; but the event is looked upon by those who are used to study such signs as a well-kept rather than a peaceful symptom.

Hopes are entertained that the new Ministry just formed in Spain will prove a more permanent character than its predecessor. Several of the members are said to be men of great diplomatic and financial talents, and the Ministry has the advantage of enjoying the confidence of the Cortes in the Senate and 150 in the Chamber of Deputies.

The correspondent of the Morning Post writes from Florence, published a most extraordinary report, stating as he asserts, on the affirmation of persons of the highest character and possessing the means of obtaining correct information, that the Pope had issued a most extraordinary decree, restricting the Papal Government. The rumor is in effect that a distinct understanding has been arrived at between the Conservative party in England and the Papal Government, that the latter will compensate the Catholics by 250,000,000 francs for the temporal power of Rome. A telegraphic dispatch from Rome announces that the Emperor of Russia had addressed a long letter to the Pope, expressing a hope that tranquillity in Italy may be the result of the agreement. Who the other European Sovereigns may be it is difficult to determine, unless Austria and Prussia, the alleged parties to the Holy Alliance, have joined in the pacific wish.

The popular feeling exhibited at the elections in Copenhagen and the honor and existence of the kingdom are imperilled, and whatever disposition to negotiate might have been entertained in the early part of the struggle, it has now entirely disappeared, and the people are demanding an energetic prosecution of the war and a steady advance to the November constitution, its abrogation after the commencement of war being impossible.

It is stated that Denmark has positively refused to accept any conference or to enter into any arrangement of the basis of which should be only personal union with the Danes, and consequently the conference proposal is at an end.

It is certain that the course adopted by the Commander-in-Chief of the Danish army at Danneberg will not be repeated before Duppel or Fredericia. A dreadful struggle is inevitable, and by a telegram received from Copenhagen, it would almost appear that the King of Denmark looked upon an attack on the city as highly probable, for the civic authorities have been ordered to take measures in readiness for the worst, as no epidemics are known there.

tion of Schleswig, but to hold Jutland and attack Denmark by sea. She now sends 10,000 additional men to the army in the north.

It is said that an arrangement has been effected between the Emperor of the French and the Archduke Maximilian whereby the latter accepts the throne of Mexico. He will limit the Mexican loan to four millions sterling, and that loan is likely to be immediately conceded with a German banking firm—Liverpool Mercury.

Death of Sir Wm. Brown, Bart.

This distinguished and munificent Irishman breathed his last on Thursday morning, at his residence, Richmond, near Liverpool. In his life he has been distinguished in the highest manner by his country. Born in the town of Ballynure, in the county of Antrim, in the year 1784, he was taken, when not far advanced in boyhood, and was placed at school, where he remained up to his sixteenth year, when he emigrated with his parents to America, and entered commercial life in the mercantile firm of his father, in Baltimore, in the linen trade, and subsequently became a partner in the firm. In the year 1809 he returned to England, and soon displayed those faculties of head and heart which raised him to an exalted position in mercantile, political, and social life. His onward progress in fame and fortune, he never was deaf to the call of duty, and he was always to be found amongst the foremost in promoting the social, moral, and intellectual progress of his fellow-countrymen. He was one of those men naturally too great to be spoiled by success, and like all who deserve to be placed above the selfishness of the world, he was in the origin of internal war, and his wealth and station he used as his handmaids, for the purpose of promoting the good of others, and for enabling him to perform the generosity of a true patriot. As the head of the firm of Brown, Shipley, and Co., he rose to the greatest eminence in the mercantile world, but notwithstanding the many demands which were made on his time and his energies he took an active part with Mr. Mackintosh up to the period of that gentleman's death, at the time of the opening of the Liverpool and Manchester Railway, in effecting local reforms, much we need not in the great English western part. Always an advanced supporter of the cause of the poor, he was chosen as a candidate for South Lancashire in 1841 by the Anti-Corn Law League party, but was defeated after a most successful contest, which was the last of his public life. At the following election he was returned for the seat which he previously held, and he sat for South Lancashire from 1846 to 1857, having been four times elected. In Parliament he always exhibited that sound judgment and far-seeing policy for which he was finally renowned. He displayed his powers as a vigorous thinker and close reasoner in his letters on free trade, published in the Promissory, a Boston newspaper. Always the friend of literature and of the advancement of knowledge, in the year 1857 he performed an act of public magnanimity which will be the means of having his name remembered with honor to posterity. For the establishment of the Free Library of Liverpool he gave out of his private resources, the princely sum of 20,000 £, and this institution which will continue to be associated with his name, was opened to the public in the year 1858. Mr. Brown retired from political life at the dissolution of Parliament in 1859, but not till he had seen nearly all the great trade reforms which he had worked so long and so earnestly to bring about effected. He was created a baronet a short time after his retirement from the representation of South Lancashire; he was magistrate and deputy-lieutenant and lieutenant colonel of the 1st brigade of Lancashire Artillery Volunteers. In private life Sir William Brown was much beloved, and in his 84th year, attended by numerous friends, and troops of friends, the good and hearted and venerable Irishman passed from a sphere in which he had for a long life so nobly discharged the duties of a Christian, a citizen, and a gentleman.—Dublin Freeman.

RIVER PLATE PRODUCE.

Blackwell and Co.'s Circular.

Liverpool, March 7, 1861.

Since the date of our last, two vessels only have arrived from the River Plate, the Henry Williams and Success, from Buenos Ayres, with cargoes of bones and bone ash. The imports of hides have been very limited.

Through very quiet during the early part of the past month the demand for salted River Plate hides has lately been more buoyant, the trade prices in some instances, taking quality into consideration, higher prices; and as the stock is now reduced within such narrow limits, and some time must elapse before the new supplies can come forward, the tendency of the market is likely to be upwards. The present stock consists of 17,046 hides, viz:—

River Plate—Heavy ox, 753; light ox, 6928, cows 3483. Total, 17,946. Horse Hides—No import. The demand has considerably improved, and the sales are large at all previous rates.

Bones and Bone Ash—Import, 330 tons bones, and 700 tons bone ash. Bones have sold freely at an advance of fully 10s per ton. On the spot, ash has been difficult to realize, but flattening cargoes have met with more inquiry at all previous rates. Sales, 270 tons bones; shanks, at £7 10s; legs and sculls, at £6 10s to £6 12s 6d; sculls and horn pits, £1 10s per ton. 101 tons bone ash, at £4 7s 6d to £4 10s per ton, on a basis of 70 per cent. phosphate.

South American Sheep and Lambskins—No import or sales. South American Tallow—No import. The market has continued heavy and flat, and prices have still further retreated from 1s to 6d.

Today's Races—Horses and Colors.

LOCAL EVENTS.

And Repudiation.—In the "Pablo" of Friday night there has been a disgraceful attempt on its part to overthrow the world; finding words to weak to forward its object, it has had recourse to hieroglyphic means—Buenos Aires, our forefathers. Under the shadow of pretence of advertising live-o'-eels, it advocates the reddest of red republicanism by means of a sailing vessel representing vessels sailing under the sun at the bottom of the ocean—and codfish reigning supreme over all. But we are not to be deceived; the ship is a sailing vessel, and the sails will be hoisted, and consequently, down with the Minister of War. The sun in the depths of the ocean is emblematic of where the President will be. Buenos Aires flag to fly, and the coat of arms, the fishy characters of the men to be promoted to power—why, it is all as clear as a bell.

Races at Uruguay.—Today take place the usual races got up by the Argentine Racing Association, and if the weather be fine, there is likely to be a large audience. The first race will start at 1 p.m., and seven horses are entered by it. For the second race six horses are entered and will start at 2 p.m. The third and fourth races will start at 3 p.m., and seven horses are entered by them. We are really not sufficiently posted up in stable matters to be able to venture an opinion as to which horse one ought to put a "put of money" on, but no doubt there will be on the ground sufficient prophets and sellers to "convert cards" to guide intended betters.

The Hermit of Belgrano.—Ever that the order of this is might be over, turned by the letters about to appear in the "Argentine" editors advise the public that the Hermit is one of the staff, and he takes that name as a pun in order to write more freely.

Officer.—One of the native newspapers says that the owner of the Lujan mill has suffered some severe losses, owing to the rise in the river. The loss of about 100,000 dollars is estimated at 20,000 dols. The workmen with difficulty saved themselves, and were obliged to take refuge in the upper story, where they were for two days. Many horses belonging to the mill were also lost.

Something like a Name.—The lady born Infanta of Spain has just been baptized, and received the small number of the 92 names, many of them double names, and many others all collective, such as Petra and all the Holy Apostles, the Holy Martyrs of Japan, &c., and many other such like too numerous to mention.

Railway Stations.—The light-fingered country are taking possession even of the railway stations. A gentleman, whilst taking his ticket for Rosario had his pocket picked of 200 dols. The country is making rapid strides in the art of peace, far, till lately, little or none of the four work of the country was executed, the thieves confining themselves almost solely to violent robberies. There are still hopes for this country.
