SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1864.

RIOTS AT THE CHAMBERS.

For the last few days this city has been delivered up to a drunken mob of the lowest scum of society. Knives and pistols have set all law and order at defiance, and blood has flowed freely at the doors of the Senate-house. Peaceable foreigners have been accidentally shot near their own houses, printing offices have been attacked, while such symptoms of revolution as tearing up the street pavements have suspended business and closed most shops in the city. Incensed ruffians, brandishing revolvers, swagger through the streets, knocking at the doors, and enquiring the politics of the inmates. The Police looks on powerless and indifferent, and the authorities hesitate to call out the troops of the Line to restore order, as such a proceeding would lead to an effusion of blood.

Meantime the mob is triumphant and it is perfect anarchy in the public and especially to foreigners, whether the armed ruffians belong to Cúrdos or Cocidos, when life and property are placed in jeopardy by both these absurd factions. All the dens of vice and infamy have been emptied to lend proselytes to either grade, and three hundred of the grossest ruffians ever seen collected in a choice assembly have been arrayed to the teeth to carry terror throughout the city.

All respectable people kept away from the scene of rioting, knowing that it is only a contest between a dozen political gamblers. A few persons casually passing by this focus of disorder found themselves involved in the row. Mr. Balbin Junco was wounded by a pistol-ball. Capt. Luque was shot in the abdomen, and several wounded spectators carried off to the Police. It seems a year had been in the Club Pueblo, the Chamber announcing that there would be no session till tomorrow, when most of the Cocidos quietly returned home. A band of Cúrdos then burst the Chamber, with the apparent object of taking the place, but were driven off. A Cocido faction, was also preparing to attack the Chamber office, and a body of military from the Cabildo was required to disperse them.

As soon as the Cocidos found out the trick played them they ran to the Granja in Calle Tacuabó, and there they sheltered. Meantime the Cúrdos had hanged their adherents in the market-place, and prepared to resist the military in case of attack. We are told that boxes of arms were distributed to the Cúrdos in the Chamber, and the Tribune admits that they were leading revolvers inside. The Cúrdos then attacked on the Cocidos who wounded, it is said, 30. It is probable the riots would have been fearful, had not President Mitre requested Dr. Gutierrez (chief of the Cocidos) to order his party not to attack from the content.

At four o'clock the alarm through town was general, and it was feared a terrible episode would take place after about two hours later the indignant Cocidos began to assemble at the Nacional Argentina office, and their numbers in the early part of the night was over a thousand.

Patrols of horse and foot permeated the city on Friday night, and a number of dangerous characters were arrested and conveyed to the Police. We are informed that a crowd collected in front of the entrance about 10 p.m., and some shots were fired, but whether by the sentinels or mob is not clear. The night passed, however, quietly in the centre of the town, although most people were getting their fire-arms in readiness for any eventuality. An Englishman states that he was assaulted in Plaza Victoria by a ruffian who attempted to snatch his watch, but who soon measured his length on the flag.

In the suburbs there was much firing, and several people after a sleepless night, came in yesterday morning, to enquire whether it was the Government or President that had been expelled from the capital. The reports yesterday of the wounded were more favorable, and the number of killed does not pass two or three. Among those arrested is a brother of Colonel Corcos, who went up to a body of Cocidos in the plaza, wounding round his neck the white handkerchief of the Cúrdos as a defiance.

THE SESSION OF SENATORS

ELECTIONS ANNULLED

THREATENING VIOLENCE

On yesterday morning everybody seemed anxious to learn whether we were going to have a renewal of the riots. It was known that the senators were to meet, and the general opinion was, that they would annul the elections. At an early hour the Cocido rendezvous, in Calle Tacuabó, was thronged with the best faction, and as their numbers were more than double their opponents, a physical (certainly not moral) demonstration was resolved on. The Cúrdos party had, through the influence of the Provincial Government, procured all the navies and postmen of the Western Railway, who were armed, in direct violation of the law, in order to check the overpowering mob of 'Cocidos.' The latter, as we are credibly informed, then armed 'en masse' 600 were furnished with muskets, 400 with revolvers, and the rest variously, making a formidable faction of 2,000 men.

Not were the Cúrdos inactive; the boarding-knives, pistols, &c., were given out gratis to every man wearing a white handkerchief, and armoured drove such a flourishing trade, that even some bootmakers exposed their wares for sale in their windows. The genius of disturbance, M. Hector Varela, was driving about in a carriage, spitting the whirlwind, and looking after everything. There was no collision, for the Senate almost unanimously annulled the elections as a farce, showing that ideas of right and wrong are strongly implanted in Buenos Ayres, for the Lower Chamber had almost unanimously approved the same elections the day before.

The result of this decision is, that the Deputies take their seats, the elections being considered, for them, most moral, legal, and edifying! The Senators on the other hand refuse all contact with candidates of what they repute, a disgraceful, swindling and outrageous attempt to get into the Sala through the windows! The doors of the Chambers of Deputies are thrown open to the French, and among which the legislators of the country proudly march to the Acropolis of fame in the South American Athens. The Senate would have their doors upon the intruder, and call for a new election.

It is generally thought the sensitive consciences of the new Deputies will not remove at the Senatorial condemnation, where they are in the habit of playing desperate 'parties' of cards. A little while since Mr. S— appeared as usual at his post, seemed in high spirits, and kept boasting himself freely. Lord D— was also in high spirits and great luck. The evening ended by the D— of the banker, who pined, looked ill, and then said, "Well, my Lord, I thought I had done you for once. Look what I have got to bring me luck," and Mr. Banker produced from his pocket the end of the rope on which Calverly had just had his good poor Wright. It seems that with this talismanic fortune is fettered.

"Very clever, my dear S—," says his antagonist; "but not clever enough to produce the other end of the rope, which was longer. On the Monday evening after the last execution, the two players appeared and set to work. S— said, 'I have beaten you by luck,' says he, 'I put a fresh bit to day, longer than yours.' And I have been shamefully robbed," says his Lord; "Calverly the five ends of the five ropes used in this meaning." Your Lordship forgets this time that there are two ends to a rope, and has anything to do with a natural story of two members of the Club de Libera! But then, you see that we are now so close to London that they are like one city!—Lion Letter.

LOCAL EVENTS.

Reports.—On the 20th the British barque Rosetta, cleared out for the Antilles, with a mixed cargo, of which the city port native produce was 90 live mules and 70 hives fodder.

On the same day the Swedish barque, Carl George, cleared out for England, with 422 tons horse, 3353 tons bones, 118 tons horse dust; also the Brazilian brig Paqueta Catharina for the Brazils, with 1200 quintals jerked beef.

Scene at the Chambers.—On the afternoon of Thursday, when the snow and noise were at full blast in Calle Moreno, two ladies, of moderate age, made their appearance in a carriage, and addressing the assembled multitude of 'right men and loose women,' presented them with flowers.

"We are not aware," says the Tribune, 'who these game dames were, but in spite of the police officers and barbers, they still continued their task of heroic patriotism! Leap year has not yet expired.'

El To Quico.—The 'Nacion Argentina,' which, we believe, is a Government newspaper, has an article in yesterday's issue, entitled, 'Cheap enough,' in which it enumerates the low sums paid to the Federal (U.S.) wounded soldiers. We have looked through the article, and find it very interesting, not for his own country, but for others, and besides that, fighting against his will 'The Nacion Argentina' will find a full account of our own 'Cheapness' in the Standard of April the 21st. When the Government can prove that Morgan's, and similar cases, if such do exist, are punished by the Argentine authorities, they are at perfect liberty to tell their readers that in England and France, soldiers who may get wounded in their uniform, pooled with gunshot holes. Till that extraordinary state of matters dies, the Government press had as well fill their columns with more interesting information, than how other nations maltreat their subjects.

In Vino Veritas.—The 'Tribuna' expresses proper, and very high drawn horror, at some intoxicated free and enlightened citizens, on Thursday last, shouting 'Viva la Patria! Had they been sober, and on their guard, they would have disgusted their sentiments, and likely believed 'Viva la Patria!' or even 'Viva la Republica!'

It is not that the 'Tribuna' should howl with such a noise, but still they would serve to make a noise.

What a Shame!—According to the Cúrdos prints, it was only Cocido chancers and botanists who were intoxicated. Does the Club Libertad expect to have any success, if it does not distribute liquor to the chancers and botanists? It is perfectly absurd to suppose that, even the lowest classes of the people will take any active part in the cause of freedom, if they are not bribed with cards and cigars. We know we were Argentine electors, would not, joking apart, we have anything to do with Argentine in Buenos Ayres, and do seriously did not feel degraded in his own estimation when he saw the class of people who assembled on Thursday in Calle Moreno, and who constituted, in reality, the political strength of this city. Some years ago, the mess of the 44th Regiment of British troops, who had been disbanded, owing to the behaviour of its members, that for a long time no man, with the slightest claims to respectability would accept, still less receive, a commission as an officer in a short time, except a radical change be effected, no respectable man in the Argentine Provinces will vote, or have anything to do with such a compound of rovelism and bribery. This is not only 'Standard' crowd, but the newspapers of the two parties will not get into what is being done in elections.

La Policy.—This toy steamer arrived at Montevideo from Rio de Janeiro on Thursday last. She is a small iron steamer, of 143 tons, 149 feet in length, and 43 feet in beam. She was built by Messrs. James and George Thompson, of Glasgow, is a paddle propelled boat, and has an engine of 75 horse-power. She is intended to run between Rio de Janeiro and the neighbouring ports. This steamer has a large open railing, without deck, there not being required, on the trips last only for a few hours. She has also a saloon set apart for ladies. She made the run from Glasgow to Rio de Janeiro in 47 days, having touched at Cork, Vigo, Lisbon, Teneriffe, Bahia and Pernambuco. Her average rate of speed during the passage was 12 and 13 knots.—(T.M.)

Brazilian Fleet on the River Plate.—The Rio newspaper states that the following vessels will soon sail from Rio de Janeiro for the River Plate: The steam-frigate Amazonas; the gun-vetoes Nitheuloy and Imperial Maribheiro, and the gunboats Mesarin and Aranguhy.—(T.M.)

ROSARIO.

The mails from Chile last arrived in Rosario on Friday last, but at the time of sailing of the Payon the general news had not been published.

The Ferro Carril publishes the result of the Chilean elections, which had been hotly contested. The details for 31 departments are as follows:—

16 of the Government clerical party. 15 of the Mont. Varietas. 10 of the Libera! It seems that the sugar crop of Tucuman, this year has been upwards of 100,000,000 arrobas, and is equal to the best Pernambuco white sugar.

PABANA.

From Parana there is not a word of news of any public interest. The gentleman who has the misfortune to be married to Mrs. Serrano, who so cruelly insulted another lady, has defended her conduct. This will have a very bad effect on society, as the bands of Buenos Ayres, if they follow his example, will be in constant law with government.

Serenos.—The 'Pueblo' tells a good story, almost too rich to be true. 'Serenos' is a note, which he passed to the sub-director of the Company of Firemen, the Union Americana, has the following charge against the serenos. Some firemen, who were going to a fire, a few nights ago, called the attention of the serenos whom they passed on the way, to the fact of the bells tolling the alarm of fire. This was 13 o'clock. Just lency their somnolence when the serenos secretly told them that the bell was tolling for a religious function. Many people express doubts as to the sex of the serenos, and say, as though to the witche in Macbeth:

You should be women,
 And yet your beards forbid me to interpret
 That you are so.

Theatre in Chivilcoy.—Last Sunday there was to have been a grand theatrical performance in this agricultural town. How do the Chivilcoyans show their appreciation of actors and actresses? cities, the pleased audiences generally cast bouquets of flowers, in Chivilcoy we suppose they slide bundles of chivalry and omelette.

A Biped Speech.—At half-past three p.m. on Friday, a party addressed the members of the Club Libertad in the small market place in the Calle Moreno, in the following wet-blanket style:—
 The boys of the line are coming down upon you; you should not resist them; people should not fire on the line at their approach, retire upon the Plaza of the Chambers. The third and fourth sentences are somewhat ambiguous, and might easily be construed into advice to the people to reserve their fire till they got inside, and should say prominently, 'I can't see a good mark, they blaze away, and on the principle of Peter Simple's triangular debt, hit somebody, don't care whom.'

Bridges.—The bridge built by Sur. Hunt, for Government, at the Cabildo street, and which was to have been finished, and has been handed over for the use of the public. The same engineer, Hunt, has also commenced another bridge over the Rio de Arroyo. The first instalment of 40,000 dols. has been paid towards the expenses of the work.

The Month of May.—On the 23rd past, we intended to inaugurate the new section of the Western Railway from Moreno to the Villa Junco. On the three days of national rejoicing next month Mr. Wel's the account will judge the excitement and willingness from the Plaza de la Victoria, in accordance with his agreement with the Government.

Facts for the curious.—The proprietors of the Boulevard Canelon, in Rio de Janeiro, have received from New York an immense machine for making lemonade refreshments, which is capable of manufacturing 1000 of these refreshing drinks in three minutes. In 1842 there were 6,929 such machines in Great Britain, and it is calculated that 10,000 men are employed in engine building. There are 8,258 free-masons, in the world, frequented by 500,000 active members—of inactive masons, there are about 3,000,000.

Rain Action.—The action of fine impalpable negrette rams took place on Friday at St. John's. The anti-slavery men were selected from some of the most celebrated German Establishments, and hence were of a very pure and fine type. The prices were very good, but the quality was not selected by Mr. Michael Murray, Lescaux, and Mr. Peter Han of Lujan, who became the owners of some beautiful animals. We have again to congratulate our two enterprising countrymen on not having purchased some of the real negrette breed, and we have no doubt but in their respective districts they will be duly appreciated. We wish every Argentine citizen, who is not a Jew, to give such examples, as it is thus they will make their business doubly possible, as the negrette breed gives that quality to the wool which all desires, viz. quantity and quality.

The Gallows.—Some old women are constantly showing in their advice when it is not particularly required, and others of the same sex and antiquity are perverse in retelling this kind of dash of most improper times.

The N Argentina gave us upon the knuckles for reporting the outrage in this place our colleagues most inappropriately gave a translation of a long, rambling, and senseless article written by Luis Blane on the subject of the capital execution of a man in London for murder. He (Mr. B.) is largely trying to advocate the abolition of capital punishment, and really his statement reads almost as an account of Miss Braden's stories, and has every bit as much truth in it as any of those works.

M. Luis Blane makes one statement which we sincerely wish, was truthful even being written in Buenos Ayres. He states that 'Jack Ketch is the superior Guard of morals in England.' We wish to heavens that he was here! It would be a most happy nation.

Mr. Luis Blane makes one statement in advocating such a move in Great Britain, where he has enjoyed the same hospitality for so long a time. It looks remarkably like the M. Blane had a presentiment that his head would be cut off in the end, in the case which it has escaped so often.

However, that is not our point; we wish the Nacion Argentina to pitch into itself for so boldly talking of capital punishment, a thing of which the police here are wont to confess their ignorance.

We feel inclined to about thro' the streets of this city, 'up with the three branched tree' instead of waiting our finer feelings (and we have none to spare just now) on murderers.

Arrest.—We are happy to be able to report the capture by the police of an executioner, called Rufino Pararo, who during the discussion of one of the thousand and fifty-one political points of the present day, at the corner of Artes and Temple, killed his adversary. We'll say no more about it, but cordially congratulate Sr. Coxon in having under him Comisario Izaguirre.

Melo.—The Lord Bishop, Dr. Estanola, accompanied by five priests, visited on Friday the 22nd. inst. the church of Merlo. He was met at the railway station by the gentry of Merlo and the neighbouring districts, and was received at the church door by the Rev. Father Dilla. A great number of people awaited his lordship in the streets to receive his benediction. After his lordship returned again to the city.

Loayza in Montevideo.—The 'Comercio' gives a truly Hogarthian picture of the Plaza of Montevideo, on the afternoon of the 15th inst. A pauper's funeral was proceeding through the Plaza at 6 p.m., of that day; immediately in its rear came hooping, singing and dancing, a votary of Bacchus; and to give a kind of relief to the whole affair, some serenos are seen bearing to the hospital a man drowned in blood.

Flores.—Flores is again within a few miles of Paysandu, with 600 men, and has been the headquarters of some 'Germanos' Comercio.

The Government Loan.—The Loan granted to the Oriental Government is all arranged, and is to be delivered in portions of $10,000 monthly, bearing interest at the rate of 1 per cent 'Convecio.'

Monte Christo.—The 'Nacion' says that M. Briceva has been committed to prison upon the declarations of Señoras Gales, Cozzano, Hout, &c.

FOUR MORE MURDERS.

On Friday night a man was killed in Calle Mayo, two in Barracas, and a fourth in Calle Parque. We believe none of the assassins have been arrested. What says the Nacion Argentina?

ON 'CHANGE

April 23, 1864.

Specie did not suffer as much change today, as might be expected from the roughly performance of Calle Pava. Patentes opened at 28 90, rose to 29 10, and closed at first price.

Things are supposed to look gloomy, riots are anticipated, and foreigners are beginning to lose their former confidence in General Mitre, as a guardian of public order. Collections to-day have been very bad through town, and the unsettled state of affairs has no doubt some influence.

Very little is doing in prodos. We heard of two Irishmen who have abandoned sheep-farming, perhaps owing to the lawless state of the country. We have to correct the exchange operation of Government interest, mentioned yesterday; the rate was 604 instead of 67 shillings. It is understood the Loan to the National Government is knocked on the head; since the idea of Bontout no one likes lending to anyone who may close his eyes, we know, and at present both Governments hold a doubtful tenure.
