OUR CREDIT ABROAD.

Previous to the arrival of the last French packet it was generally believed by people who had no means of knowing to the contrary, that the credit of this country abroad was unbounded. Our colleagues copied out articles from the London, French, and Belgian papers, which, commented in the most flattering terms upon the 'great new country,' the Argentine Republic.

Such is the startling news we read in Sunday morning's 'Tribuna.' No more paper money is to be burnt; the Minister of Finance believes that it is a most stupid measure, and not calculated in the slightest to reduce the value of ounces.

We confess that we were unprepared for this startling intelligence, since only the other day it was said that the Minister, having negotiated a loan with the merchants, would burn four millions of paper money in the first days of May. The Minister of Finance seems to think that he has a discretionary power respecting the burning of the paper money. Now, we hold that he has not, and that the omission to burn the extra ounces is a direct violation of the law.

We call attention to this matter as we regard it a novelty in South American affairs to hear of a republic which, boasting of a population of over one million and a quarter, is destitute of revolutions and civil wars, less a surplus in its treasury, and devotes the same to the development of the national resources. What the Argentine and Bolivian Governments failed to accomplish, President Lopez determined to do. The Bolivian Minister came on a special mission to Assunção and Buenos Ayres, relative to the navigation of the two rivers; but he failed with both Cabinets, for Paraguay did not wish to share with another State the benefits of an undertaking which she was able to carry out single handed, and Buenos Ayres was too busy with election troubles to attend to industrial progress.

It would be tedious to enter into a description of the immense advantages which must accrue to commerce in general, and to Paraguay, Bolivia, and the upper Argentine provinces in particular, from the spirit and enterprise of the first named country. Suffice it to say that the Yerseno, which falls into the river Paraguay a little above the fortress of Humaita has been already proved navigable, and the latest exploring steamer under Capt. Lavarello, had a greater draught of water than the new steamers will require. There is at present in Assunção a German who will verify in the Yerseno route, who will probably sail in its navigation. As to the Pleniama, we have no fixed data as to the height of the stream already explored. An Australian steamer (the Yerseno) went up only a short distance from the anchorage in front of Assunção, but tradition says that the early Spaniards followed its sinuous course into the heart of Bolivia, where it rises near the city of Quinquera.

The colles of Yungas, cotton of La Paz, cedar wood of Oran, tanned hides of Santiago, and a thousand other valuable products will form an export of trade in the rapidly rising metropolis of Paraguay. It may seem strange that President Lopez should send $20,000 to purchase two steamers in England, instead of getting them made, at his magnificent arsenal in Assunção. It must, however, be borne in mind that Mr. Whitehead and his associates have their hands full with the new mail steamer on the stocks, the dry dock, and other heavy works. Besides, these vessels of very light draught, such as are used in the Indian rivers can be procured sooner and probably cheaper in England. As it is difficult to bring out these river boats, we suppose they will be shipped in pieces, and put together when they reach their destination.

The navigation of the Tibiquari and Confais has also the attention of Government's first interests that rich territory lying between Villa Rica, and El Pilar, and great fiscal advantages are offered to all parties sending down produce by this river. We may, therefore, fairly conclude that the development of these valuable highways has succeeded Cotton-planting, among the 'hobbies' of what Argentines call the capricious despotism of Paraguay.

The works of the Southern Railway are going ahead. The cuttings near the Lomas are very slight, in some places not exceeding two feet. It is gratifying to see so many natives at work. There are also Basques, Italians, and a Irish among the navvies. One gang is at present building a bridge over the Lomas road, where they have an encampment of tents, and other articles scattered over the country as far as San Vicente.

As an instance of the enormous rise in the value of land in the Lomas de Zamora, we may mention that a youth, whose parents died some seven years ago, was left 4000000 of land, but the valuation being only 2000000 square, it hardly sufficed to pay for his schooling. Luckily, he held possession of the land until the commencement of the Southern Railway, and has now sold it to various English residents, realizing $600,000 mpc. A friend of ours brought a plot some time ago for $10,000, for which he has been offered $20,000, and he refused the offer.

A fearful riot took place in Calle Parque, on Sunday night in the neighborhoods were alarmed by several shots, but the occurrence remains in the greatest mystery, and we can hardly expect much information from the Police. Next Thursday will be the festival of the Ascension of Our Lord, and a strict holiday, as in all Roman Catholic countries. There will be high Mass at the Cathedral.

To-day takes place the trial trip of the Eva, which will leave the Mole at 9 a.m. for the Tigre. We understand that President Mitre and a select company will attend the excursion; there will be a 'dejeuner a la fourchette.' On Sunday a Doctor of Laws was thrown out of his gig in the calle Larrea, Barreca, but fortunately not hurt. The American pastor gave a prayer meeting at Mr. Marshall's Barreca, on Sunday evening, which was largely attended.

D. Andres Lamas was expected to leave yesterday evening per Salto, for Montevideo; and his departure was spoken of in connection with the current and contradictory rumors of an arrangement with Flores, and Brazilian interests.

We regret to learn that the Premier, M. Rivas, has been confined to bed for some days past. It was not magnanimous of the 'Pueblo' to attack a man under the circumstances. We hope he will soon be able to return to the Cabinet of which he is both the honor and support. There are rumors of Governor Saavedra's resignation, and we think he would signify serve his country by abandoning a post which has neither gained glory from his administration nor imparted respect to his declining years. From so disastrous a Government, an incompetent a ministry, and so disorganised a camp administration, any change must be for the better, and we would gladly say 'Adieu,' if his successor were the able and vigorous President of the Senate, D. Narvalo Riestra, on whom the Government must devolve in case Sr. Saavedra's resignation.

It is probable we shall have no Provincial Chambers, unless the Government, Acosta party consent to give up the promise in Calle Moreno. The Cocio members will not attend, and, of course, the Chambers cannot be opened without a quorum. The rumors about Oriental affairs are manifold and important. The Brazilian fleet, with an army of 10,000 men, was said to be momentarily expected. According to another account, President Aguirre and General Flores had agreed on the basis of a Pacific management. Either of these stories seems not unlikely.

The Marquis de Olinia has brought us five sacks of seal cotton, from Curumio, Matto Grosso, which we intend to purchase, but it is a pity that the staple was not gained before shipment, as the freight becomes enormous in proportion with the value of the consignment. Mr. Wheelwright says in his last letter that he is 'sally disappointed' the 'finno' is considered owing to the bad reputation of the Argentine Government in England. It is said only £20,000 has been taken, on 25 per cent. of the capital now required. There is a sum of £40,000 taken in this country, but this cannot be relied on to construct the line. Again, it was rumored yesterday on 'Change,' that the shares were all taken up by the two financial companies, under whose auspices it had been introduced, but this requires confirmation.

The 'Nacional' states that the Provincial Government has succeeded in the burning of eight millions dol. mpc. of the 10 millions due by the Nat. Government for this purpose. The Congress Chamber of Deputies will meet to-day at 3 p.m., in preparatory session; the 'Nacional' mentions a new box for the gentlemen of the Press. It is thought that the Chamber will be solemnly opened by President Mitre on the 9th inst.

The favorite opera of Norma will be given to-night. This is the best performance of our company, and brings fully into play the different talents of the rival game donee. In Saturday's paper we gave a list of the exports of Buenos Ayres in 1861 for six thousand oxen, value $600,000.

On Sunday at half past 12 o'clock H. E. the Governor and the ministers Acosta and Dominguez, dressed in grand-tulle, his Excellency's coachman, the coach and the four white horses, were ready for the august ceremonial of reading the message which we noticed under his Excellency's arm, and inaugurating the Provincial Chamber. The Ist company of the 'Legion Agrícola' next came and formed in front of that celebrated national printer, and commenced a lively jig; Cruces and octaves flocked like flies in a French restaurant while the omnipresent little wench of Buenos Ayres armed with squibs and orange peels entertained the proceedings.

The awful solemnity of the scene was oppressive, the band ceased playing, the poor white horses became restive, and were observed to sneeze several times, by attentive observers. Several deputies fraternized with the little boys, and asked if the Cruces were coming; the answer was satisfactory, for they entered the august assembly by the old tri-umbhale way; the doctor, instead of the Leg's Helios assembly took over the railing of the public library. The Cabildo clock struck one; two; three; no appearance of the Cocio members, nor of the silver inkstand inside, nor of the poor white horses—alas! the direful news was soon ascertained, no assembly! Broom omitted. The poor white horses were unharmed and sent to grass—the Legion Agrícola's retarder its weary way along the hard pavement of Calle Florida back to their barracks, and the opening of the Chamber of the Province and public reading of the message was postponed until to-day.

THE ARGENTINE GENERAL. (From the Railway Times). We have been daily sensible for the last twelve months of the arrangements which were pending with the Argentine Republic respecting the line from Rosario to Cordova, and we have not the least regret of learning that the negotiations are successfully and satisfactorily completed. A company has, consequently, been established on the basis of 100,000 shares, each of $1000, and so valuable is the undertaking considered, that both the General Credit and Finance and the London Financial have consented to act as agents in procuring the amount of capital to be subscribed. This public and useful line will be 247 miles in length. The capital required is $21,000,000, but it is not intended to call for more than $1,000,000 in the first instance in shares of $20 each. There is a Government guarantee of 10 per cent. for 30 years, the grant of 300,000 acres of land on each side of the line, as well as free occupation of that on which the railway and works are to be constructed. The contractors (Messrs Brassey, Wytheham, and Wheelwright) are not merely men of substance, but of established repute, and every reliance may be placed on the due fulfilment of the contract into which they have entered with the company, and which includes interest at 7 per cent. on deposits and calls until the Government guarantee comes into operation. These gentlemen bind themselves to complete and stock the entire 247 miles for £2,400 per mile. Nearly the whole of the line is practically on a dead level, and the working expenses, like the cost of construction, are therefore anticipated to be unusually low. The climate is European, and the city of Cordova is alleged to be one of the healthiest in the world. The prospectus adds that the road, in addition to its ordinary articles of traffic—hides, tallow, and wool—will receive the produce of the extensive silver mines discovered within the last two or three years in the province of San Juan, and also of copper and gold mines lately opened in other localities. Two miles of the work commencing at Rosario, are nearly completed, and the whole will not occupy more than two or three years, while a moiety of the lands not assigned to the contractors remain the property of the shareholders, the whole being fit for immediate settlement.

The interior provinces of Buenos Ayres, although full of natural resources, have been hitherto impeded in their development by the difficulty and cost of obtaining a suitable outlet for the produce. The trade between Cordova and the other interior provinces and Rosario is at present carried on by carts drawn by bullocks or mules, and at an enormous cost. The time consumed in the journey between Rosario and Cordova occupies, on an average from twenty-five to thirty days. The duration of the journey between Rosario and other places is in a corresponding ratio; and, indeed, the length of time is so considerable that the remoter provinces to the north (such as Salta) preferring produce to market on the Pacific by a mountain route, and at an increased cost; that the whole is being comparatively of more importance.

The railroad is ultimately intended by its projectors, Mr. Wheelwright (a gentleman who has constructed some of the most successful South American projects), to traverse the Pampas and Andes of South America, extending from the river Paraná to Colibre on the Pacific Ocean, a distance of 1,000 miles and opening to inter-communication the most important parts of the Argentine Republic; which, being so securely established and protected, will be permitted to develop the whole of the resources within its scope prior to any further or separate effort being made.

FOREIGN MISCELLANY. THE SAXON CASE. The New York correspondent of the Evening Star states that the Federal Government will surrender to the barque Saxon, the British ship seized by the Federal cruiser Vanderbilt at the Cape of Good Hope.

Great Fire at Greenwich. Greenock, 11 March, 2 p.m. Shortly before nine o'clock, the sugar house of Messrs Crawhall and Co. was discovered to be on fire. The fire originated in the upper portion of the building, which is a three-story building, which is a three-story building. The fire has now reached the lowest story, and there is no probability of any portion of the building being saved. The date of the fire is estimated at £20,000. This sugar house was destroyed by fire exactly two years ago, and was subsequently rebuilt. The whole is covered by insurance.

Destructive floods have occurred at Denny and other parts of Scotland. The cause was the late heavy rain.

The Cork Assize. At the Cork Assize, on Monday, before Mr. Justice Keogh, six men were put forward and indicted for leaving at Queenstown, without licence from Her Majesty's agent to enlist and enter service as sailors on board the Keessago, the same being an American ship of war, contrary to the provisions of the Foreign Enlistment Act. The prisoners all pleaded guilty, and having entered into their own securities to appear for judgment when called on, were released from custody.

The following is an extract of a letter just received from Melbourne:—"Professor Newmager, on a three years' scientific visit from Havana, tells us that in 1865 a comet had come close to us to enlarge their our earth; and should it not attack itself to us (as our globe of quicksilver to another, nor annihilate the sight will be made beautiful to behold. During three nights we shall have no darkness, but be bathed in the brilliant light of the 'Landing Train.' The professor was leaving Australia for Havana, so that we may hear more of this on his reaching Europe."

The Florida. The Confederate cruiser Florida, after procuring the necessary supply of coals at Madeira, put to sea on the 20th ultimo—whether pursued by the St. Louis or not, we do not know. The report of her being blockaded in Funchal Bay on the 4th instant is therefore without foundation.

A NEW FRENCH TREATY. On last Sunday the residents in this country had a rather painful proof of the utter insufficiency of our present legislative system. Gov. Saavedra attended the Provincial Chambers with his message read out and dry, to inaugurate the Provincial Chambers, but as by the terms of the Constitution a certain number of members is requisite to form what is called a quorum, the Governor was unable to open the chambers, in consequence of the required number not being present. Our readers must be aware that there is at present a very serious split amongst our politicians, the Cruces or local party being considerably inferior in numbers to the Cocio or National party. To such a height has party spirit been carried that it is more than probable we shall now have no more Provincial Chambers—as the Cocio members seem determined not to attend. The result of all this will most probably be that Gov. Saavedra must resign, and as a matter of course D. Norberto de la Riestra will succeed him. Looking at the matter in this light we cannot say that there is much reason to regret the determination of the Cocio members still it is rather humiliating to be obliged to admit that the working of our legislative system is all out of joint. We have two main Chambers, Deputies, Senators, &c., and we have a simpler legislative system, we shall be always subject to the caprices of politicians.

The Provincial Executive is at present in an awkward dilemma, as Gov. Saavedra cannot inaugurate the Chambers if the Cocio members hold firm. Many people consider that Governor Saavedra will be obliged to make a 'coup d'etat' under the circumstances, but we rather think that he will find it more convenient to resign. Mr. Riestra will, no doubt, if he takes office change the ministers. This we would regard as the most lamentable of all consequences. What we should do if Messrs. Acosta and Dominguez resign, we are really at a loss to say, as it might be difficult for the new Governor to find two ministers of such varied and extraordinary talents.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND OUNCES. We mentioned last week that the new Paraguayan representative in Paris Sr. Du. Candido Barreiro has taken with him to Europe no less a sum than sixteen thousand ounces for the sole purpose of purchasing two steamers in England to be built expressly for the navigation of the rivers Bermejo and Pilcomayo.

We call attention to this matter as we regard it a novelty in South American affairs to hear of a republic which, boasting of a population of over one million and a quarter, is destitute of revolutions and civil wars, less a surplus in its treasury, and devotes the same to the development of the national resources. What the Argentine and Bolivian Governments failed to accomplish, President Lopez determined to do. The Bolivian Minister came on a special mission to Assunção and Buenos Ayres, relative to the navigation of the two rivers; but he failed with both Cabinets, for Paraguay did not wish to share with another State the benefits of an undertaking which she was able to carry out single handed, and Buenos Ayres was too busy with election troubles to attend to industrial progress.

There was a very strong feeling on the 10th to-day at the outrageous proposition of our new Finance Minister, there were not wanting persons who went so far as to charge his Excellency with speculating in ounces. Unscrupulous as we all are to deal with such wholesale reputation every merchant in the city was taken by surprise at the unjustifiable scheme of the Finance Minister in San Juan's 'Tribuna.'

It would seem very as if in the River Plata no trust can henceforward be reposed in either the laws of the country or the honor of a young man, the country or the honor of a young man, the country or the honor of a young man, the country or the honor of a young man.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUD & CO.
No. 103 calle de Cangallo.
BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts current are now generally felt, and appreciation is being made of the importance of the River Plate—Montevideo—Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place their most confidence.
The Bank of Maud & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.
The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.
These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the numerous gambling, in lottery and other frivolities.
The Bank of Maud & Co. of this city following the example of their Buenos Ayres September 19th 1893.
