The Standard. Thursday, June 9, 1861.

ARGENTINE CAPITALISTS. In most countries the capitalists are an exceedingly influential body...

To say that there are no native capitalists would be untrue, for we have men in this city possessing colossal fortunes...

Through the untiring efforts of foreign property has increased within the last twenty years one hundred fold.

The estancia which possessed leagues and leagues of land, and who formerly lived in the simplest possible style on beef and yerba...

It may be that our capitalists are to be met in a safe, or that other species of property afford greater inducements...

It may seem invidious on our part to drag before the public some of the River Plate nabobs...

The Argentine Central Railway Co., and notwithstanding the limited number of shares allotted to this country...

Our indignation knows no bounds when we look over the share books and see what men worth millions have put their names down for.

Why, Don Plator Obligado, who is so great a patriot, and who paper money deposits in the bank exceed all others...

Sir, Anselmo, who is the owner of whole territories of camp, and who has house property in every street in town...

There are hundreds of others, too numerous to mention, who prefer to put twenty thousand dollars into a pulpiner to subscribing for one hundred shares of the Central Railway.

Even the very bonds issued by the Government, in the hour of its need, were found to be not worth the paper they were printed on until the bank exchanged them at a frightful shave...

Let us speak the truth—Mr. Wheelwright, when he informed the Board in London that twenty thousand shares were subscribed for in the Argentine Railway...

Three thousand shares are yet un-subscribed for, and unless the English merchants of Buenos Ayres come to the rescue, we question very much if one share more will be subscribed for in this city.

should be coming forward... The "Biscacha, the Alcaide, and the "How old are you, or ask Mamona... "The Hole in the Mole," a tragedy...

To the above may be added a collection of songs: "The Milkmaid's Chorus," "Where are you going on Sunday," "The Gas collector Robbed," "Furtive Soup at Deacon's," "My Sheep on a Bank," "The new Fire-brigade," &c.

Besides the English, Irish, Scotch, American, and German residents of the city, the Company might count on several natives who are so anxious to learn English, and President Mitre might favor our countrymen as he does the Buñifis.

The last influential man in this city is the native capitalist, because they hold aloof from politics for fear of "noisy" and from industrial enterprises owing to incapacity of comprehension.

As well might millions of our floating capital be buried in the bowels of the earth as in the hands of men such as our Argentine capitalists.

We look around to see one of their names associated with any enterprise calculated to advance the country, and we find that, with the exception of a few gas shaves, the majority of joint-stock companies in the country are owned more by foreigners who have never seen the country than by the wealthy sons of Buenos Ayres.

To this very hour there are shares of the Southern Railway un-subscribed for, and we mention other companies also, but they we appeal now only on behalf of the Argentine Central Railway, and we demand that the capitalists of the River Plate come forward and save Mr. Wheelwright from being victimized.

ENGLISH DRAMATIC CO. We are flattered in finding our suggestions carried out, and among the various enterprises mooted in our columns the latest, that of getting up an English Dramatic Co., seems in a fair way to be realized.

Already three or four gentlemen interest themselves in procuring the requisite number of bus, kin amateurs, and the general opinion prevails that it would prove as paying a speculation as that of the French Bouffes.

The Franco-Argentine theatre has but few expenses and might be hired once or twice a week, for a portion of the receipts. The scenery, dresses, orchestra &c., of the French company would also answer the English drama, and if our countrymen could only dispense with that B. Ayrean nuisance, the prompter, we promote them all success.

Private English theatricals have been a rage among us, and we remember the efforts made to procure an entrée at the fashionable soirees of Mr. N. and Mrs. X. The attraction would hardly be diminished when the performers as Punch says "make a living by it."

May we should be proud to support English artists, and feel independent of Atar-Gull, Tomb-à-azar, and all other "foreign" amusements to which we are at present restricted.

We cannot expect to see as Keen among our comedians, but a fair performance of Pizarro, Charles XII, Hoffer or other historical piece, followed by a comedy or screwing farce, with a good song, would give general satisfaction and meet with a suitable acknowledgment in the protection of our British public.

Buenos Ayres suffers too much from politics, and English residents are almost wholly destitute of a little recreation, so necessary to keep our humor in healthy play. What the Standard is to the breakfast table, the English comedy should be for post-prandial hours, aiding the digestive organs, for all physicians admit that laughing prolongs life. Let it not be said that our British public is unprepared for such steps; we are naturally under their impression that this is the age of progress, and every year should see our condition improved.

That an English dramatic Co. would be unprepared for such steps; we are naturally under their impression that this is the age of progress, and every year should see our condition improved.

No doubt, the performances would create a perfect Zuzara, if some one, like Monsieur Zimmerman, could produce a play written for the company, and touching on matters of local interest.

"The Secreto," a burlesque on Somnambulo. "New arrivals," after Barney Wilkins. "Six weeks in the camp, and a day in the stocks."

The following contract, concluded by the National Government with Messrs Proudford and Grey, for the construction of a telegraph line between this city and Montevideo, has been presented to Congress for approval.

Art. 1st. That the Argentine Government concedes to J. Proudford and M. Grey, the exclusive privilege of forming a telegraph company for the term of fifteen years, from the day on which said telegraph shall begin to work.

Art. 2. The Government permits all necessary materials for the construction of said line of telegraph, and for the working of same, to enter free of duty.

Art. 3. The Government authorizes the concessionaries to erect posts, wires, &c., on the public roads, or other places where it shall be necessary to do so, in order to make said line.

Art. 4. The Government shall, as far as lies in its power, protect the property of said telegraph company, from damage by fire, and for this purpose shall introduce such laws as may be necessary in the premises.

Art. 5. The Government shall enjoy the right of sending all messages, despatches, &c., for half the rate charged the public.

Art. 6. In case of any misunderstanding occurring between the two countries, the Argentine Government binds itself not to interrupt the working of the line, and only in case that private correspondence is prohibited, shall the Government have the right to inspect the messages sent.

Art. 7. The concessionaries engage to have the line complete within the period of two years, to count from the day on which the concession shall be finally passed by both Governments.

SAVINGS BANK BANK MAU & CO.
No. 103 calle de Cangallo.— BUENOS AIRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the 200 great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Aires—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mau & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them to the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mau & Co. of this city, following the example of their Buenos Aires September 19th 1863.
