SYMPATHY WITH PERU
Great demonstration at Colon
 The doors of our great theatre were thrown open on Sunday at noon, and the edifice was soon filled in every part by over 3000 respectable citizens assembled to protest against the Spanish aggression in the Chincha Islands. Although less numerous the meeting was far more imposing than last week's display at the Retiro, the arrangements also being more complete. Hundreds of persons were unable to procure admittance, but through the kindness of Capt. Manilla we obtained a place in one of the boxes.

The chair was taken by General Zapala, around whom on either side were grouped some 25 veterans of the Independence, the back part of the stage being occupied by a military band and a number of gentlemen. My way of preface to the proceedings, Capt. Lucas (Italian) reminded the meeting of its purpose and advertised in flattering terms to the services of the holy campaigners who presided on the occasion.

He said: "The sacred cause of Liberty has called forth many heroes but none more worthy than a Guano whose genius directed the War office in the crusade of 1816, a Martine whose sword flashed in triumph on the fields of Chacabuco, Junin and Ayacucho, and an Olazabal whose entire family perished in the effort to redeem this continent. The cause for which they fought is the same as that which brings us here to-day, and I though a young soldier of fortune will gladly offer my humble aid in so glorious a combat between foreign tyranny and the institutions of American democracy (applause)."

Don Pastor Obligado junr. then came forward, as secretary to the committee, and read several resolutions; he recommended same to the meeting in a fiery discourse on popular sovereignty, American freedom, European tyrants, and other topics of Retiro style which elicited rapturous cheering, but were rather commonplace than proper to the question, and more tedious than interesting.

General Tomas Guido, being loudly called for, addressed the assembly; his speech was decidedly the ablest and most sensible of the day. He said:

"Fellow citizens. It is a cheering idea for my comrades of the Independence to think that the ablest and most sensible of the generation as jealous in guarding the liberties of the continent as their fathers have been. We are the remnants of an age now almost extinct, but when the hour of danger comes we will take our places in the ranks, and if we fall gloriously we shall be avenged by the gallant youths who stand by our side. Only a few days ago you assembled at the foot of the statue of our great hero, Don Juan de San Martin, who headed the movement which secured the independence of Chile—the generous city of Ilo.

LEA & Co of S. American Lion-Club so selfish as to be conspicuous in selling the foreign monopoly of the Spanish arms held in possession by the Government.

"It was this enterprise, that I gave as an example to the patriot arms men of Chile, and who were more irresistible, and we ultimately had the happiness to see Liberty triumphant from Panama to Iquitos. The heroes of Belen succumbed to the violent followers of Hollar, and Spain learned at Ayacucho the vigor and strength of young America. The monarchs of Europe looked with apprehension on the growth of democracy and a secret conspiracy was organized to crush the rising power. Thirty years have now elapsed since I wrote from Europe to Spain, the result of the conference of Vienna and congress of Verona the representatives of the great powers formed the scheme of converting all Hispano-American republics into monarchies. I am happy to testify that England held aloof from the coalition, and that her generous people refused to join in any plans aimed at the independence and self-governance of these countries. I will not now advert to the epoch of civil war and bloodshed which ensued, converting this continent into a battle field of fratricide; but I will, thank Heaven, mention that it was in such dignified and henceforward Argentina will know no colors but the blue and white which form our National banner."

The gallant orator was saluted with continued rounds of applause and obliged to come forward and bow his acknowledgments to the meeting. The band played the Peruvian hymn. Sr. Aljondo, author of La Indignacion, stood up in one of the boxes, and said: "They call me a poet, but in this present emergency I would also show myself a soldier. Not only my pen but my sword will be at its service of Peru, and I have confidence in the present movement when I see men of such talent and such services leaving it on their consciences."

Capt. Lucas called to order a few words but was received with shouts and confusion, the audience not wishing to hear him speak. At length he was enabled to speak: "I wish to add but two words, and these are: that we must be united, and that we must be united. I am a political opponent of the Government of Peru, and I wish to see it reduced to a state of anarchy. It was General Guido who planned the crossing of the Cordillera, and his proposals, on receiving the sanction of the public for their kind appreciations, he was sanctioned that his name should in any way figure before that of their great hero, San Martin, to whom was really due all the glory of the triumph of our Republic. It is in the present aggression of Spain is not only against Peru, but against this whole continent, and even against all friends of Liberty throughout the world. It belongs to a nation which has undergone great trials, and all Italians will stand up in defence of an oppressed nation in either the New or Old world. If a mercenary gets up in this city, my purse will be freely opened, and if an Italian volunteer corps be formed I will enter the ranks, and do battle for the Republic of Peru against the corrupt ministry of a judicial Government. Let us however bear in mind that our war is not against any European people, for most nations of Europe with us well, but the despotic ministry of Queen Isabelita has murdered the home of the republican Liberty (cheers)."

Sr. Guido (son to the General) said: "Countrymen, let us take courage, and all his energy for the cause of our conqueror, as in Mexico where a great portion of the army bravely fell beneath the walls of Puebla, another portion treacherously joined the invaders, and a valient few still hold out under their immortal President, Juarez. But let us remember what has given rise to this scheme of foreign invasion: it is our crime as a nation, our wars, and bloodshed of fifty years duration. We must put a stop to this carriage, and unite for our common country. Those who are too old to fight can give their sons, and those who give neither their own blood nor their name can give their wealth. If any recruit hold back let his name be a condemnation of infamy, and that he shall be regarded as unworthy to be called American or republican. When the invaders touch our soil we will make a rampart of our breasts, and if we fall, our bones will be fruitfully to produce heroes, to teach the decaying nations of Europe that our heart is warm as the volcanoes of the West, our spirit as ample as the plains of the Orient, and our courage as impetuous as the mighty rivers of the continent. Let our motto be: 'Datus non quem furdamus' (Death before dishonor). The speaker sat down amid a perfect hurricane of applause."

Dr. Navarro Viola (Revista de Buenos Ayres) said: "In order that my words should not partake of the heat of contemporary oratory, I have written them down. We are all of accord in the object of this agitation. The foreign press, alone, of this city, has thought fit to oppose it, on the grounds, less than dangerous, really existing, but an inspired writer (Jub) says: "I am a prophet, but when I see red clouds at sunset, I know that it betokens a stormy horizon." And certainly our political horizon is overclouding. Mexico and the Dominions have fallen, and Peru is menaced. But this storm has been gathering for 30 years, in 1814, at the Congress of Verona, the great Powers agreed to labour for the suppression of democracy and representative governments, and the protocol was signed by the Ministers of France, Russia, Austria, and Prussia. It was agreed to give the British vote declined to sign, and his conduct was not only justified by the English Government, but the latter actually sent intimation to the United States of the secret convention. The advocates of 'divine right of kings' were enlisted in their design against South America, by the generous opposition of Great Britain, and the growing importance of the Great Republic. A Congress was convened at Panama, at which Chile and Buenos Ayres failed to assist, the North American envoy arrived too late. Had that Congress succeeded in forming a general alliance, we should not be in the predicament we are in to-day. But European tyrants take advantage of the present war in the United States, which God grant may soon terminate, to weaken the spirit from the stupor of death in which their enemies seek to poison him. Alas! for the country of Washington, now torn by civil war; the men of 1780 died for the Southern States as well as the Northern. God grant, let us give a bravo to the United States (shouts of bravo.) Spain has arisen from a lethargy of 45 years, and pronounces us to be the struggle of independence against the danger that is greater than that of 1810, so we yield to the great and glorious task (loud cheers)."

The contention that ensued was so great that a gentleman proposed to turn out every one making a noise, which produced great mirth. At length the talented editor of the "Tribuna" (Peruvian) said: "It is a good omen that we are met in the theatre which bears the name of the discoverer of this continent, the Genoese navigator, who succeeded in his career of discovery, but his greed and avarice brought his head and an illustrious woman (Isabella) took his profit. The cause of the people is in danger. Let us give a bravo to the United States (shouts of bravo.) Spain has arisen from a lethargy of 45 years, and pronounces us to be the struggle of independence against the danger that is greater than that of 1810, so we yield to the great and glorious task (loud cheers)."

Spain has arisen from a lethargy of 45 years, and pronounces us to be the struggle of independence against the danger that is greater than that of 1810, so we yield to the great and glorious task (loud cheers).'"

Dr. Navarro Viola said: "The recent Savisa mission was preceded by military preparations, and it seems monarchically as if we were to be republied. I propose that we cut off all commercial and diplomatic relations with France and Spain, and all Mexico and Peru as well as Chile and Colombia." There is no doubt that we must cut off all relations with France and Spain. Here a gentleman exclaimed: "Remember that this is a legislative body, and we have no right to usurp the duties of Congress and the President." (Shouts of you are right.) The confidence was so great that we were called upon to attend, or his bill will proceed in his absence. We regard it as a foolish thing to try a man who is not forthcoming. The question of losses incurred by the owners of the British bark 'Sul tana', in consequence of a decree of Rosas, prohibiting the entrance of English vessels into this port, in the year 1845, has been decided by the Fiscal, who asserts that the Argentine Government is not responsible for such losses. We perceive that, according to the bank statement for the month of May, that the money lent out in San Nicolas up to that date is nearly a million and a quarter, in the Villa Mercedes a trifle over a million, and in Dolores only $1,770. The amount of money due the bank by the Western Railway is twenty-nine millions and a half. The great steamboat debt due by the old Parana Government to St. Gabriel, has at last been allowed. It may be remembered that some two years ago this claim caused the greatest excitement, as it was said this debt was contracted by Juan Manuel Rosas, and should not be recognized; however, they have changed since then, and people of all political shades scorn the idea of repudiation on any grounds.

The non-arrival of the "Mersey" yesterday left us rather hard up for news, but as the Colon meeting had been reported, we were cheered from the dilemma.

Sunday was a great day in town. Owing to the scandalous condition of the roads people could go nowhere beyond the pavement. The balloon man and the Peruvian friends had the city divided. Colon was crowded, and as for the Plaza, when it was known that Mr. Walls was on the ground, the rush was swift.

Sr. Herrera, of Barracas, has most generously offered a site in his splendid grounds for the building of a church. The neighbors all round promise to subscribe handsomely, and the institution is probably the best in Barracas, we hope the Bishop will give his sanction.

One of our National Ministers has lately invited in a snug little quinta on the Baracosa road. It is a rather unpretending house for so great a man as a minister, but it was sold very cheap, $12,000.

Don Fernin Bustallo, a native estancierero, who was half raised by the soldiers at the battle of Cepelra, has presented a claim to Government for damages, which has been disallowed on the plea that the soldiers who committed the depredations acted in the name of the Government, and consequently the Government cannot be held responsible. This is a poor excuse, and we regret sincerely that the unfortunate native estanciereros should be so victimized.

Up to the hour of going to press nothing was known of Mr. Wells and his balloons. It is popularly believed that he went across to the other side to see what Flores and the ministers were doing. Meanwhile we have not heard if his proposition to go to Chile has been accepted or not. It is more than probable the plan will not be considered until some of the water shames are passed.

Palermo, it seems, is about to be turned to some account. The Belgrano municipality are making an arrangement with Sr. Reviro for opening a School of Mechanical Arts on the premises. The great dining hall is to be converted into a mechanics' shop, the splendid drawing room a sort of blacksmith's forge, the old empaneled room where "off the tyrant sleep" is to be armed with lathes, &c., and Manuelito's old head-quarters, if—perhaps he is not the painter—let it be the saw room. Sic transit gloria mundi.

Our colleagues very justly complain that the numbers of the legislature are not so great as in attendance. Days and weeks pass, and no session is held, simply because there is no quorum. Several very important measures are at present before the House, but there they lie until people cease to take interest in the measures. The Senators and Deputies should every morning be called, on a list of five or six names, to put them down in a well as heretofore.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The heirs of John Joseph Simon are notified by the Escribano Demaria to present themselves to receive their share of his property.

A fellow named Manuel Perez, who is charged with having committed homicide in San Nicolas, has fled. He is now called upon to attend, or his bill will proceed in his absence. We regard it as a foolish thing to try a man who is not forthcoming.

The question of losses incurred by the owners of the British bark 'Sul tana', in consequence of a decree of Rosas, prohibiting the entrance of English vessels into this port, in the year 1845, has been decided by the Fiscal, who asserts that the Argentine Government is not responsible for such losses.

We perceive that, according to the bank statement for the month of May, that the money lent out in San Nicolas up to that date is nearly a million and a quarter, in the Villa Mercedes a trifle over a million, and in Dolores only $1,770. The amount of money due the bank by the Western Railway is twenty-nine millions and a half.

The great steamboat debt due by the old Parana Government to St. Gabriel, has at last been allowed. It may be remembered that some two years ago this claim caused the greatest excitement, as it was said this debt was contracted by Juan Manuel Rosas, and should not be recognized; however, they have changed since then, and people of all political shades scorn the idea of repudiation on any grounds.

apathy which they exhibit in the Argentine, Central Railway scheme. Leaves them open to the imputation of narrow-minded selfishness. Blind to their own interests, they cannot comprehend how their reluctance to invest in the shares of this company, is the most damning proof of their utter want of confidence in the Government of the country.

Enterprise is a word which our capitalists cannot comprehend; their sole ambition seems to be able to build a splendid house to live in, and keep a carriage to take their families to the 'Progreso Ball', or the Opera, but beyond that their ambition does not soar.

Fifty shares in a company which, when carried out, will double the value of every square foot of land in this country. Why, a commercial clerk at home would be almost ashamed to put his name down for less than one hundred.

If there was any proof wanting to demonstrate the miserable character of the capitalists of this country, it is, we insist, now placed beyond all doubt by the share list of the Argentine Central Railway Company. Ten thousand shares, which in Europe would be at once taken by men of more spirit but less capital, than Sr. Auchuco, Lezama, Cobo, Saavedra, Alzaga, Laguna, Cano, Pastor Obligado, Bana, Elias, Lalavall, Pereyra, Casares, Lesica, Alvarez, Fernandez, and some fifty others, whose names we have not room for. This list of ten thousand shares, embraces a trifling of ten subscribers as long almost as that of the 'Reforma Pacifica', when funded some years ago.

The agents of the company having exhausted all the sergeants, captains, and officers of the Argentine army, all the public clerks who seek out a livelihood on a miserable salary, a trifling quantity, from the Arroyo Medio to Cordoba, at last come to the native capitalists, the men who should have been the very first to subscribe for so deceiving an enterprise.

We are all free and feathers at present about the Chincha Islands, all are boiling over with indignation against the Government, and the agents of the General Realty give his rounds to the wealthy Argentines, and is most politely bowed out.

As indicated we are to believe that 'clearly begins at home,' we are somewhat surprised to witness the great sympathy expressed for Peru, and apathy for Mr. Wheelwright. Arms are to be subscribed for Peru, and money advanced for Chile, but the share list of the Central Railway wants some three thousand five hundred of being filled up. If this is not the greatest force that was ever attempted to be perpetrated on a free people, we know not what to say.

The latest mails from Valparaiso have brought the gratifying intelligence that what Argentine capitalists failed in, Chileans are about to accomplish. Several of the leading Chilean capitalists have sent respectable orders for shares, so that the probabilities are that the Argentines will be deprived of the opportunity of investing their surplus moneys in a gigantic industrial enterprise, and will be obliged to put them down in a well as heretofore.

highest authority that no such secret alliance exists or existed, and that President Mitre views with displeasure the Brazilian pretensions.

Dr. Guido, the manager of the Banco de los Rios Bank, has made a second call for 25 per cent on the shares. The stockholders think he is calling them in fast.

Flóres, it appears, has accepted peace restored and the terms agreed on, intends to become a sort of South American Hannibal, as he proposes raising a Peruvian legion, crossing the Andes in the dead of winter, and falling an avalanche upon the unsuspecting Pizón.

The different tone of the orators on last Sunday at Colón, has excited great surprise, and shows that Argentina were far from enforcing all the bosh about rotten monarchies. England is now regarded as the friend of South America, and the English monarchy as sound and firm as any of the republics in the world.

Mr. Lushan, who has for many years been connected with the trade and commerce of Rosario, left per Santiago for Europe.

PARAGUAY

The review of our colleague, the 'Semanario,' is deserving of peculiar attention. We extract the following:—

It affords us the greatest pleasure to remark the numerous projects and improvements undertaken by Government, because it proves most indubitably the genuine interest which the Government takes in the prosperity of the Republic. Government has fixed its attention upon the development of the interior, by means of riverine communications, the rich rivers which flow through the Gran Chaco, and particularly the Pilcomayo, which unites the Republics of Bolivia and Paraguay, will testify, thanks to the efforts of our Government, be open to the commerce of the world. The realization of this scheme promises the most splendid results, not only to Paraguay, but to the whole of the River Plate. Our Government is having constructed in England two steamers, built expressly for this purpose, and it determines to make an experiment in a matter of such importance. It is to be hoped that Bolivia will second our efforts, as it will be of mutual benefit. This highly important project is seconded by another of almost equal benefit. Telegraph wires are to be run from all the principal towns to Asunción: the wires have arrived, as also the engineer. In fact, every measure calculated to benefit the country, meets with a ready support from Government. Our political system has been made the object of the most violent attacks, but we ask impartial men to judge our Government by our deeds, not promises; and this political exasperation, which is tried to be fomented by parties who apparently have no other aim to do, can lead to no good result. Another cause of some importance, and which proves how we enjoy our time, is the opening of the railway to Pirity, which is distant some 14 leagues from Asunción. The greatest activity reigns in the railway works, which are now more than half finished for the whole length of the route. The workmen are now pushed on to the rocky mountains of Sapeca. The great convenience of the railway is now beginning to be felt, and planters are sending in their cotton and tobacco by railway every day is not far distant when the locomotive will steam into Villa Rica. It is to be regretted, owing to the continued heavy rains, many parties were unable to attend the blessing of the new church, in the picturesque town of Paraguari; notwithstanding, however, the unpleasant weather, the attendance on that memorable occasion was great. Crowds went to see the new camp at Cerro Leon, which has, as if by the wizard's wand, been converted into a well-regulated barracks. The officers and soldiers' quarters attracted particular attention; they were so well built and commodious. The recruiting still continues unabated, and each day battalions of raw soldiers are arriving at the encampment. The anniversary of the Independence of Paraguay was celebrated with the most unprecedented eclat, not only in the capital, but in all the towns in the country. In consequence of the unpleasant events which took place in the harbour of Montevideo, Paraguay demanded satisfaction for the insult. We are happy to say that the Oriental Minister, Dr. Sagastume has, in the most amicable manner, afforded satisfaction, and friendly relations between the two Governments have been re-established. President Mitre's Government has at last abolished the incongruous port regulations, and were to unfair towards our steamer. We readily acknowledge this act of that Government, which proves that at least in this quarter the Argentine Government was influenced by a spirit of justice towards us—Semanario.

It affords us no small gratification to give publicity to the foregoing plain statement of facts. That Government is going ahead now can doubt. The Government of that country seems to have no other object, save internal prosperity and national greatness, and though the faras may be different, liberty in the proper sense of the word, is fully enjoyed, and life and property protected. Comparisons are alike invidious, as they are impolitic, but the man who rules in Paraguay has never stained his name with any act of cruelty, or exhibited the character of a despot. Our present spaces fill out paragraphs to enter into them, but we hope to return shortly to the subject and throw some light on these almost un-discovered regions.

COGNRESS.

Central Argentine Railway.
Congress met yesterday. The Minister of Education has sent in his report. The law authorizing the National Government to subscribe for 2,000 shares of the Rosario and Cordoba Railway (£ 0,000) was passed without opposition, on a technical amendment of the wording.

The bill for changing Art. 18 of Mr. Wheelwright's concession was read, and the Chamber retired for consultation, but it was expected to pass.

ENTRE RIOS.

Already we have two Cotton Societies established in Paraná, one of which will begin to reap its first harvest soon. The other, organized but lately, is preparing two thousand squares of land to be sowed during the year. Cotton plants are easily cultivated in this country, as the experience of many shows. The results obtained by the first association organized to cultivate this branch of industry, which at present is so important, is another proof calculated to encourage those who labor and devote their time to the business.

The harvest at present gathering, which amounts to over 70,000 cotton plants, will influence numbers of men to sow, who can no longer have any fears as to the recompense for their toil. Besides these two centres of industry, of which we have spoken to-morrow or next day many more will rise, and the day may come when the whole of the devoted as it is exclusively to pastoral labor, will achieve activity and perseverance in cultivating a soil so well calculated to yield the best products of climates' mild as our own. On the cost of the Paraná the land is superior for this object. The harvest of wheat made at the end of the year shows how the case for agriculture has spread.

In the district of Diamante solely, were gathered 80,000 fanegas, and the harvest in Paraná amounted to no less.

Argentine Central Railway Co.
The Provincial Directory of Paraná in a letter to the Ministry, named the committee which is to search for names. With this object the city has been divided into four parts, running through the streets of Puerto and Rioja.

1st. District, street mill, Messrs. Zochez and Haciniano.

2d. District, the plaza, Messrs. Dauid and Will.

3d. District, National District, Messrs. Geros and Conat.

4th. District, the market, Messrs. Grogans and Lejarza.

The President and Secretary have formed a fifth committee to gather the subscriptions already received in the country, and to endeavor to raise more.

Great Central Argentine Railway.
All who take interest in the progress of this country will be glad to learn that the directory is taking active measures to hasten the above enterprise.

Our readers were already informed of our arrangement of a local commission in Rosario, and we now have the satisfaction to announce that similar steps have been taken at Cordova. A meeting of shareholders was held in that picturesque city on the 24th inst. The Governor of the Province, Don Roque Ferrerria, was also present. Mr. Juan Duguid, of our city, in virtue of powers from the directors, here, confirmed in their office of collectors of shares, the little principal citizens originally chosen by Dr. Rawson for the purpose, and the meeting elected from that body three gentlemen to act as local directors. They are Don Jose Maria Mendez, Don Antonio Alvarez, Don Julio Argüero, Don Santiago Gowlind to act as secretary.

The meeting was addressed by the Governor, strongly recommending the active co-operation, and stating that he was about to take the necessary steps to obtain from the Chamber of power to subscribe on behalf of the Government of the Province.

Mr. Duguid gave a succinct account of the position of the Company explaining the contract of the responsibility they had undertaken to promote Cordova increases beyond all others. Mr. Gowlind and Dr. Zavala also spoke in furtherance of the object of meeting, and the utmost unanimity prevailed as to the great advantages to result from the enterprise to Cordova and the Confederation generally. The Directors named a sum of wealth and respectability, and they are proceeding at once to collect the deposits and extend the list of shareholders. A list was opened at the meeting, and a con- siderable addition to the previous subscription was made on the spot.

We venture to say not only to our readers are aware of the rights of Cordova and the neighboring provinces. Our present spaces fill out paragraphs to enter into them, but we hope to return shortly to the subject and throw some light on these almost un-discovered regions.

Subscriptions in Paper Money.
The Directors, wishing to enlarge the operations of the Society, have accepted the request of many people in this city, and determined to receive shares payable in Paper Money of Buenos Ayres, under the following conditions:
Article 65.—From the 1st of April, 1861, shares shall be issued to such persons as may wish to pay in Paper Money of Buenos Ayres, and in accordance with Article 17 chapter 2 of the Statutes of the Society, the lowest sum receivable being $200 annually, payable in one sum, or in instalments, subject to the following rules:
1st.—For Paper Money Subscribers sections will be opened and kept separate from Silver Money Subscribers.
2nd.—The liquidation of the sum, belonging to the section of Paper Money Subscribers will be administered according to Article 31 of the Statutes, and for account of these particular sections.
By these means the Directors hope to gain its object which is to enable the poorer classes to enjoy all the advantages of the Society.
