All tibi andem nil veri non uideam dicitur.—Cicero. SUNDAY, JUNE 10, 1861.

Patriotism reduced to £. S. D. Fine words are proverbially cheap, and if we would believe the blate, enthusiasm of our political celebrities the fire of patriotism burns brighter in their republican breasts than in the mildewed hearts of royalists.

Last Sunday we were treated to magnificent declamations, about hurling the Andes on the Spanish invaders, and out-rivalling the inhabitants of Morocco by converting this vast continent into a universal Golgotha.

Where are the Argentine capitalists? Echo answers, "nowhere"! Such men as Anchorena, Leciana, Lecica, Peña, Guerrero, Obianglo, Atucha, and Pereyra ought to subscribe, each for 500 shares.

Mr. Wheelwright, a man of much smaller fortune takes 10,000. Of course the latter is interested in the enterprise, but why should not Argentine take as much interest in this great national work, as a North American citizen of English contractor?

It would be erroneous to ascribe the tardiness of our Argentine capitalists merely to a want of confidence in the Government. Not the real secret is the seven per cent. They prefer twelve or fifteen per cent in private transactions, and care little about the progress of the country so long as it involves the smallest sacrifice.

The editors of this paper have not the honor to belong to the cosmopolitan committee, nor have they intruded themselves further than urging the convenience of strenuously supporting the great scheme, and as proof of their sincerity, have contributed to the amount of £200 of their limited resources.

To-day the great men and small, of this city, are summoned to a meeting in Plaza Victoria, about the affairs of Peru, and the heavens will reverberate to self-complacent vanities.

his return to England, the advantages offered by Mr. Wheelwright's enterprise. Bear in mind that this gentleman works for love, and receives no pay, for he is a man of 'deeds,' not 'words.'

We would call the attention of our Argentine brethren to the impropriety of leaving all the glory of their grand national undertaking to foreigners. There are yet several hundred thousand pounds sterling of patriotism to be allotted, and we trust the citizens of second rate fortunes will shame the capitalists by coming forward handsomely.

There is a story told of the late M. Gerard of Philadelphia, which is appropriate. One day a poor wagoner was killed near the Exchange, and several merchants broke into exclamations "How I pity his poor family! Dear me, it is a sad case &c." Gerard at once putting his hand in his pocket, said: "I pity them $30; how much do you pity them?" and so on, until a very handsome amount was realized.

Fossils from Parana.

Mr. Lorenzo Myers of Parana city has made a discovery which we have no doubt may prove valuable to scientific investigation. He has found two petrified substances much resembling the spinal joints of some gigantic monster such as the megatherium, but which he supposes to have belonged to a whale before the time of Noah's Ark.

Some remarks respecting the circumstances of this discovery and the concomitant ideas which suggest themselves will not be uninteresting. The fossils so kindly presented to us are two in number. The larger weighs 16 lbs, measuring 9 inches in height, 9 1/2 in width and 30 in circumference. The smaller weighs 7 lbs, and is 5 1/2 inches in height, 7 in width, and 21 in circumference.

They were found a few weeks ago at the depth of 150 feet in the cliff or barranca overlooking the river Parana, close to the city of that name, in the province of Entre Rios. In a treatise lately published by one of the editors of this paper, giving account of his tour through the cotton fields of Paraguay & Corrientes, he mentions the excavations made by lime burners in this neighbourhood, who are gradually cutting away the barranca on which stands the city of Parana.

That they are fossils of some enormous monster will not be questioned by anyone who calls at this office to inspect them. But do they belong to a whale which died some hundred years ago on the bank of the river, or are they part of the remains of an animal of the dimensions and epoch of the Megatherium? We incline to the latter opinion. It is difficult to find a whale one thousand miles from the ocean, nor can we suppose, from the depth at which they were found, that these petrified remains have become covered over by the mere distant physical change of a couple of years.

And, if we are constrained, we conclude that these things once bones have been covered up by the operations of Nature, it may have been either by the slow and gradual deposit of successive ages carried down by the Universal Deluge. It cannot have been by earthquake, this part of the continent being exempt from such throes of Nature, and from volcanic appearances. Geologists are, we believe, agreed in the theory that the ocean once covered the country now bounded by the Andes and the Atlantic. There was, however, a race of land animals such as the Megatherium, which must have existed previous to that time, and probably the fossils we speak of belonged to such, the owners of them having been submerged in the Deluge.

Antiquity of descent as Dr. Fitzimons says is a matter of pride, and we see no reason to deprive the subjects before us of date far more ancient than Dooms-day book or post diluvian heraldry. At the same time we only throw out a few casual observations, without attempting to prove anything, and leaving so profound a question for those who make meditations on numismatics and seek to find the date of the pyramids or the name of the architect of the round towers of Ireland.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

To-morrow, at three o'clock, the meeting is to be held at Mr. Kirk's residence to raise subscriptions for the United States' Sanitary Committee. We hope to see a good attendance.

Mr. Samuel R. Phibbs, who is, without exception, the most indefatigable friend of the River Plate in England, leaves to-day for Rosario. We understand, that this gentleman purposes going over the line of route of the Argentine Central Railway, in order to draw up his report for the Board of Directors, on the nature and quality of the lands adjoining. Mr. Phibbs, ever anxious to do some good for the country, which he so ably represents in Liverpool, is determined to see for himself the company's lands in Santa Fe and Cordova, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the season, has undertaken this toilsome journey.

The bankrupt estate of Don Juan Causi we perceive is at last wound up, the bankrupt having paid over £403,450 mpc to the creditors, in money and 'pagaves,' and the brothers of the bankrupt have guaranteed the payment of $50,000 at 12 and 18 months.

The state of the river is so low, that some of the steamers can neither get in nor out of port. The Parana, we hear, was laid up at the foot of Calle Cuyo, and the Satellite yesterday was unable to come up, owing to the same cause. Strange that after so much rain the river should be so low.

The steamer Paraguay, we hear, is in Montevideo; but as she left England on the 2d, her news has been anticipated.

Our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' has fallen into a horrible blunder, respecting the mock instructions of Lord Paget to Admiral Dares, which we extracted from the London papers and published yesterday. M. Varela seems to take the affair as rather serious, and states in yesterday's 'Tribuna,' that from the tenor of these instructions, England is in for a war.

The Minister of War has at last sent in his report to Congress, but, like all the other ministers, forgot to send it to us; however, we got a peep into it. We perceive that the frontier of the Republic is guarded by some 6500 men, yet nevertheless we are always suffering from Indian invasions; and an experienced estanciero assures us that the total number of marauding Indians in the whole Republic does not exceed four thousand.

The water schemes are again before the public. We think his Excellency the President elected a rather inopportune time for mooting such matters, as with our streets full of mud and constant rains, the Congress men may very possibly believe that we have enough of water, and probably a little too much, for the convenience of the citizens.

There has been sent into Congress a new project for a Steam Navigation Co. in the Rivers, underbidding Messrs Harrison and Mansilla. This is the old story in the River Plate—no one can propose a sound practical scheme but some dozens are at once out-bidding the original projector.

Mr. Nicholson has requested us to call attention to his Phantasmagorical lantern, which is advertised for sale in another column. It is the only one of the kind in the country and a great curiosity.

The North British and Merrantilo (agents, Bates, Stokes & Co.) insurance returns show an increase of 45 per cent. in their business last year over 1862; their policies numbering 1071 of a gross amount almost one million sterling. The capital is £2,000,000.

An establishment for washing clothes by steam has just been opened at Barracas, by two Englishmen, who promise to deliver us from the present vexatious washerwomen, and reduce the charges. A van will make calls through the town, and we augur great success to the enterprise.

We have received a letter from Liverpool enquiring about Mr. William Trilimby, supposed to be a native of Dublin. He was married in Liverpool, and came to B. Ayres about 12 months ago. He is requested to send his address to Mr. Blues, calle Cangallo.

The new line of steamers from Boston to Rio has at last passed the U. S. Congress. The United States Government agrees to give the Company a subsidy of $15,000 per annum, provided the Brazilian Government gives the same, which we believe it will do. This line of steamers will be continued to the River Plate, so that at last there seems every probability that we shall soon have direct steam communication with the States. We call our readers' attention to a paragraph in another column respecting this new line—we have extracted it from the New York Times.

We have news from Flores, but not the regenerator—we mean the little village hard by. A resident called to say that the state of the roads in that quarter is something the most hideous to imagine. There are fathomless 'pantanos' where bullock carts, bullocks, maize, wheat, all go down and never again are heard of. One heroic native saved his life by swimming in the mud and holding on to the 'picador.' If it rains a little more, Buenos Ayres is besieged effectually. Oh that, 'this too, too solid municipality would melt, thaw, and resolve itself into mud.'

The steamer Paraguay, we hear, is in Montevideo; but as she left England on the 2d, her news has been anticipated.

Our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' has fallen into a horrible blunder, respecting the mock instructions of Lord Paget to Admiral Dares, which we extracted from the London papers and published yesterday. M. Varela seems to take the affair as rather serious, and states in yesterday's 'Tribuna,' that from the tenor of these instructions, England is in for a war.

The Minister of War has at last sent in his report to Congress, but, like all the other ministers, forgot to send it to us; however, we got a peep into it. We perceive that the frontier of the Republic is guarded by some 6500 men, yet nevertheless we are always suffering from Indian invasions; and an experienced estanciero assures us that the total number of marauding Indians in the whole Republic does not exceed four thousand.

The water schemes are again before the public. We think his Excellency the President elected a rather inopportune time for mooting such matters, as with our streets full of mud and constant rains, the Congress men may very possibly believe that we have enough of water, and probably a little too much, for the convenience of the citizens.

There has been sent into Congress a new project for a Steam Navigation Co. in the Rivers, underbidding Messrs Harrison and Mansilla. This is the old story in the River Plate—no one can propose a sound practical scheme but some dozens are at once out-bidding the original projector.

The steamer 'Fairy' we see sails on the same day as the Pavaon for Rosario. This is truly delightful. The owners would better merit public support if they would start every Tuesday and Saturday; by so doing we could say we have two lines of steamers for Rosario, at present we have only one.

The Commission supports twenty-five soldiers' homes and lodges, scattered over the whole field of war, from New Orleans to Washington, including Vicksburg, Memphis, Cairo, Chattanooga, Nashville, Louisville, Washington, &c. Twenty three hundred soldiers per day are taken care of in these homes. Multiply 2,300 by 365, and you will get a faint idea of the number of men thus relieved.

Other agencies to secure the soldiers' rights are sustained by the Commission. 1. A Claim Agency to secure his bounty. 2. A Pension Agency. 3. A Back-pay Agency. Often 20,000 dols. back-pay is secured in one day. A hospital directory is also sustained, by which the whereabouts of the sick man is determined. It costs twenty thousand dollars a year to maintain it, and is worth a million, if human anxiety can be estimated in money.

The Commission also has sixty hospital inspectors, constantly in the field. They also have hospital cars on the main roads east and west, along which sick soldiers are carried. They also supply the hospitals with daily cartloads of supplies from the principal markets. The cost of distributing the supplies is less than three per cent.

The battle service of the Commission requires large funds and supplies. At Murfreesboro, Antietam, Gettysburg, Chattanooga, Vicksburg, Port Hudson, Sudden and vast demands were made. Fifty thousand dollars would not cover the outlay the first two weeks after our great battles. At Gettysburg it was seventy-five thousand dollars. The average cost is three dollars and twenty cents to each man; often, as at Gettysburg, ten dollars per man. Are these expenses extravagant, considering the blessings dispensed by the variety and amount of the Sanitary Commission?

Their agents, two hundred in number, receive some more, some less, averaging just two dollars per day, or less than ordinary mechanics' wages; total, ninety two thousand dollars per month—for this vast human machinery of the Commission, stretching from Texas to the Potomac, and from before Charleston to Kansas.

RIVER PLATE STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

So much attention is now paid in London to the River Plate, that every week new steam companies are starting. The following will no doubt amuse and interest our readers:—

A prospectus has been issued of the British and South American Steam Company for a monthly line of screw steamers of 2,200 tons and 500 horsepower, from Liverpool and Falmouth to Rio de Janeiro and Montevideo (taking goods and passengers for Buenos Ayres), thence proceeding via the Straits of Magellan to Valparaiso and Lima. The proposed capital is £1,000,000 half to be first subscribed, in shares of £20, and negotiations for such advantages and facilities as can properly be granted will be opened with the Chilean, Peruvian, Argentine, and Brazilian Governments. The passage-time is calculated at 25 days from Falmouth to Rio, calling at Bahia, at 34 days to Montevideo, 50 to Valparaiso, and 6 to Lima.

The following relates to the steam trade to South America:—

Liverpool, April 21. Sir—The respectable people who to-day advertise themselves as directors of a projected 'British and South American Steam Navigation Company (limited)' would not intentionally mislead the public, whom they ask to invest their money. But as a representative of the owners of a line of screw steamers, lately established by the firm of which I am a member, in conjunction with Messrs. Rathbone, Brothers, and Co., and some other capitalists, to run between Liverpool, Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, I conceive I have a right to complain that the prospectus of the projected company should announce that the 'large and profitable field' which the public are invited to assist the directors in occupying, is 'as yet unprovided with steam for commercial purposes.'

Many of the directors may justifiably plead ignorance of either the South American trade or steam navigation, and I will not complain that they have neither seen our advertisements in your columns and elsewhere, nor known that the pioneer ship of our line is at present on her third voyage. But the oversight is really scarcely pardonable, considering that an originator and active promoter of the intended company was distinctly told by me, during a conversation sought by himself some time ago, that all our arrangements were completely made, and that the periodical departure of our ships was delayed only by the necessity we had felt under to build ships specially suited for the particular trade, instead of chartering or buying ships originally destined for other trades, & resort to which latter course we had observed to be productive in other cases of disappointment and disastrous loss.

If the projectors of the new company think the trade has room for two lines of steamers, the trade as it is open to them as it is to us. But the shareholders in both lines should be honestly warned that the effect of the threatened competition will probably be to drive one party or the other out of the field, and that the party so driven out is likely to be the one least willing to wait three or four years for dividends on its capital.

I am, gentlemen, Yours respectfully, W. J. LAMPFORD.

To the Editor of the 'Times.'

Sir—Seeing from the prospectus of British and South American Steam Navigation Company, as well as from the letter of Mr. Lampford, which appeared in your City article on Saturday that both parties are ignorant of the fact that the River Plate Steamship Co. has been running regularly for the last ten months a line of powerful steamers from this port to Montevideo and B. Ayres direct, we have to hand you a note, at foot, of the steamers which form our line, and which will show the public that the berth for the River Plate is not so entirely unoccupied as might be inferred from the prospectus and letter above referred to.

Helping you will favour us by an insertion of this letter in your columns. We remain, Sir, Yours respectfully, NUTTALL, MOSS, & CO. Agents for the River Plate Steamship Company. 18 Chapel-street, Liverpool, April 25.

NEWS FROM MONTEVIDEO.

The Montevideo papers report the arrival of Messrs. Thornton, Elizalde and other Commissioners at San Jose, where the garrison and population turned out enthusiastically to meet them, and the Commander ordered a salute to be fired, as had been done in all the towns through which the Commissioners had yet passed. They travel, with their secretaries and servants, in five carriages, escorted by 100 Government cavalry. A grand ball was given in their honor at San Jose. Scouts were dispatched to find out Flores and advise him of their coming. The general desire for peace is manifest, and betrays itself in the success of the negotiations.

The 'Pais' states that Sr. Nin Reyes (ex-prime Minister) has received a warning from President Aguirre, respecting some intrigues in which he was said to be engaged among the Government troops.

ITALIAN OPERA.

On Friday night 'Marta' was given for a fourth time, and the public is far from being tired of this beautiful opera. The house was pretty good, holding about 1000 persons. Mine. Briol never acquitted herself with greater eclat, and her rendering of the 'Last Rose of Summer' was even superior to any former occasion. Leini was weak in the 1st act, but sang 'M'appari' with great effect. Mdo. Mollo elicited loud applause by her beautiful singing and comic riddle. Walter and Celestino supported their parts admirably. The spinning-quartette was excelled. As usual, we remarked a large proportion of foreigners.

To-night the new opera 'Straniera,' will be given. We understand that the opera for Mr. Wells' benefit will be given on Wednesday evening (23d), and we are confident that our English friends will patronize the driving agent, to compensate him for his loss. We are happy to say that the Municipality has agreed to pay Mr. Wells his stipulated demand.

LATEST ABOUT MR WELLS.

The aeronaut has expressed to us his willingness to make an ascent on July 14, or give a lecture about ballooning, in aid of the American Sanitary Committee: in the latter case, he would give experiments with model balloons inflated with gas, having dolls seated in them, &c. He offers also to give phantasmagorical and mesmeric exhibitions in aid of the British Hospital. Such charitable ideas will, of course, meet with recognition.

THE CHIVALRY FAILURE.

To the Editors of the Standard. Gentlemen, We should like to ask those persons who pretend to say that the granting of a 'transferencia' constitutes a delivery of goods, whether the same rule applies to lumber, coal, salt, and other bulky articles, which are usually sold on board, the purchaser paying the duties and expenses of discharging. In order to enable him to do this, the 'transferencia' is handed him immediately on the sale being made, otherwise he would not be allowed to pass his goods through the Custom-house, and yet the delivery is not made out and the credit of the sale does not commence until then, according to the custom of this place. With regard to lumber, the delivery is not considered made until the measurer has completed the measurement thereof at the yard of the purchaser, a period of a month, and more sometimes elapsing, between it and the time of purchase. Certainly, this proves most conclusively, that the passing over of a 'transferencia' does not imply a complete delivery of the merchandise or goods it calls for.

CONGRESS.
The Senate, after a slight opposition, on Thursday passed the law changing Art 18 of Mr. Wheelwright's concession, so that this and the project of subscribing for 2,000 shares only await the President's rubric to become law.

The Deputies met on Friday. Sr. Vico took his seat for Cordoba. The Chamber ratified the bill passed by the Senate, regulating the payment of Prussian claims.

The Senate, on yesterday, referred to Committee the new project for steam-service, undersculling Messrs. Harrison and Manilla: the committee is to report on both proposals. Sr. Barco took his seat for Sta. Fe. Sr. Victoria got leave of absence for 20 days.

Specie business was rather brisk to-day, and brokers unusually busy. The bulls were very strong, and one or two broke through heavily for cash, and on time. Foreign coins, however, very abundant, and keeps flowing in; paper money is plenty, but discounters are beginning to be very wary; first-class signatures are done at 12 per cent. per annum.

The cause of the rise in specie to-day is mainly attributable to the efforts of a few brokers, as in the political world nothing has occurred to create any special want of confidence.

The new tobacco from Paraguay is at last arriving, and, we hear, sells well at the following quotations:—
Good leaf, 23 rs.
Regular, 20 do.
Pito, 15 do.

We understand that some houses have received, per last packet, respectable orders for Paraguayan tobacco. We are glad of this, as the Paraguayan Government has taken every care this year in the rearing; and as the crop is much larger than usual, there will be several thousand bales available for export.

In our remarks about Civalleri's failure, in our money article of Thursday there was a misprint which made us contradict ourselves. The word "indefensible" should have been "indefeasible," and would then read thus: "We have thought proper to call special attention to this case: to our view the Bank's title is indefeasible, but the majority of the merchants, both native and foreign, are confident that the original seller can follow the flour unless the bills are secured or paid."

We have since been confirmed in the opinion we then expressed, as it is absurd to question the fact of the actual delivery of the goods having taken place. The custom of Buenos Ayres is very clear on this point; "directly the transfer was given to the bankrupts by the sellers of the flour, and it had been registered in the Custom House, the delivery was complete." Of this there could be no doubt whatever when we consider the enormous value of goods which are sold and re-sold over and over again by simply being transferred from one name to another in the Custom House books, and without the actual property being touched at all. As a further argument in support of the view we have taken of this case, we believe that American flour is invariably delivered in the same manner as the lot in question, and furthermore, that other houses besides the one which now attempts to lay down a doctrine entirely at variance with the commercial custom of the place, have transferred flour to purchasers, when it has still been on board in the outer roads; surely what is a delivery in the one instance, must be so in the other.

Having thus disposed of the question of the delivery, let us now examine the ground on which the sellers claim to have the goods returned to them. We have heard parties, who take their view of the matter, quote the case of Llavallo versus Carneyro, which, however, has no analogy with the present one.

Article 1669, and eight following ones of the 'Commercial-Code,' give the seller the right to recover his goods, under certain circumstances, 'if they are still in the possession of the bankrupt at the time of failure.' In the case of Llavallo versus Carneyro, the goods (wine, we believe) were still in the store of the bankrupt at the time of the failure, consequently Messrs. Llavallo succeeded in recovering them. But the case under discussion is of a very different nature: the goods, after being received, were transferred in good faith to a third party, as security for advances made to the bankrupt. Such circumstances were fully contemplated and provided for by the framers of our 'Commercial Code.' As we consider it must remove all doubt on the subject, and may, perhaps, interest those of our readers belonging to the mercantile community, we extract in full from the 'Codigo de Comercio,' titulo 9, articulo 1678:—

"Si los efectos que se reivindicacion en el caso del articulo 1669, han sido dados en prenda a un tercero de buena fe, conserva el vendedor su derecho de reivindicacion: pero tendra que reembolsar al acreedor prendario la cantidad prestada, los intereses estipulados y los gastos."
Which translated is:—
"If the goods which are claimed under article 1669 have been in pledge to a third party in good faith, the original seller retains his right to recover them: but he will have to reimburse the creditor who holds the goods in pledge for his advances with interest and costs."

Nothing can possibly be clearer than this, which fully establishes the right of the bank to retain this flour, and any articles pledged to them in a similar way.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAU & CO.

No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —
BUENOS-AIRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one in the Bank in which they place their most confidence.

The Bank of Mau & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mau & Co. of this city following the example of their Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.
