The British claim bill has met a like fate, and the little Telegraph law only narrowly passed by striking out the principal clause, namely the admission of natorials free of duty. Everyday places the affairs of Peru in a more discreditable light. The story that Spain had annexed the Chincha Islands, for mere caprice or tory that Spain had annexed the Chincha Islands, for mere caprice or lust of conquest, is utterly falsified, and while Pera makes not the least move in so urgent a case, the sister republics of Ecuador and New Granada consider her undeserving of sympathy. The WHEELWRIGHT

To-day or to-morrow we may expect this worthy man to arrive again amongst us, and if Argentines properly appreciated his efforts for their country, they would give him an enthusisatic welcome, and strew his path with flowers. The Central Argentine railway is the greatest enterprise yet originated in South America, and we believe we may afely say no other but Mr. Wheelwright could have carried it out. Providence seems to raise up men for the good of one or other part of the Globe, and it is a singular destiny which has brought this N. American citizen to identify himself with the progress of these republies. The history of the Pacific stem arwigation is contained in the bust of William Wheelwright traces, and the standard in the control of the Argentine. The regent cation of the Argentines of the Cordoba railway. The great workman is well up in years, and the present will probably be the last achievement of his file. We have to congratulate him on the favorable position of the Grand Central Co. and the success of his efforts in London to realize so gigantic an undertaking. May he live to see it hoppily completed, and to receive a majorion's woll carried greated grea

There are at this time many thousands of Confederate prisoners of wair confined in the various forts and camps of the Northern States. A large proportion of them are wounded or sick, and all are in a state of destitution, the accounts of which, as given in private letters and in the heavespars, present a picture of which, as given in private letters and in the heavespars, present a picture of the private letters and in the heavespars, present a picture of the property of the poor captive who, when the feverish excitement of the contest is over, is left to the bitter charity of strangers and fose, without one friendly hand to soothe the pains of body or friendly voice to whisper hope and comfort to his desparing mind. These men, cut off front he assistance of their kindred or the protection of their Government, have pseudisc claims on the patriotism of their countrymen in Europe, and upon christian benevolence everywhere. They did not recklessly or from choice embrace the profession of arms, but in exchanging the comforts, and often the luxuries, of home for the tolis and hardships of a soldier's life, they obeyed a stern sense of duty and the call of their country in its extrement seed. Of late the Federal Government has granted permission that this Samatarion work may be done openly. It is carnestly hoped that all Southernors residing in South America will support the Fund to the extent of their ability, and its objects may recommend themselves to all, irrespective of country to political convictions, who sympathies with the safferings of their fellow-men.
