LEANS on the Paper Dollar. Let us show the public a table of the value of landed property in the province of Buenos Ayres, the value of home property, the pastoral wealth of the country, and the imports and exports.

We take the following from the 'Registro Catastral,' published in 1893:—

8,704 leagues of land, private property, valued at 1,419,000,000 dols. Value of 4,770 leagues of public lands, which is estimated at the following value, that is to say:— 9704 leagues in different parties in the camp, the greater part of which is rented at an average value of over 150,000 dollars a piece, amounting to 145 millions and a half.

650 leagues in the partido of the Loberia, at 100,000 dollars, amount to 65 millions. 3150 leagues, that is to say, 650 in the Loberia, 1200 in Bahia Blanca, and 1300 in Patagonas. To these lands we assign no value, until the Minister of War extends the frontier to the river Colorado.

The total exports of wool from 1862 to 1865, amounted to two millions and half arrobas from this province alone, which, allowing on this average two and a-half arrobas for each sheep, gives 2 millions of sheep in this province, which at 30 dollars each amounts to 750 millions.

The export of cowhides, dry and salt, in the year 1882, amounted to 1,000,000, and taking this on an average at 10 per cent on the stock, the amount of herbage in this province is 10 millions of head, which at 80 dollars each amounts to 800 millions.

We leave on one side the amount of mines and horses in the camp, but we must be permitted to add, the official value of home property in this city, which is estimated at $1,507,700,000. Furthermore, let us add, the official value taken from the statistical book of the Customs house for 1892, for imports and exports, which amounts to $12,800,000 dollars.

The 'Registro Catastral' of Sr. Dominguez states, that there are 9 cities and 32 towns in the camp, besides other very valuable rural property; but there are no figures to show their value, and we refer the matter to a subscriber of the 'Tribuna.'

We admit, though it seems to us ridiculous, the total value of the province of Buenos Ayres, without including the private capitals, is 5,600,000,000 dollars; and let us make our argument upon this basis. We will admit also, for the sake of argument, that the paper money depreciates, and is not becoming less current. Now, let us see how much this depreciating of the paper money is costing Buenos Ayres.

In December 1859 and 1860, the ounces were worth 340 dols., to-day they are worth 460 dols. But we will admit what Mr. Antezan says, that the average value of the ounces is 448 dols.; the depreciation, therefore, of the paper money is thirty per cent, and this depreciation costs the province of Buenos Ayres the enormous sum of 1,680,000,000 dols.

But the paper money is not becoming less current, because of the depreciation of the paper money, but because of the depreciation of the paper money, and we ask the people in this land of paper dollars, what care is there for the value of the ounces which make cotton rise? It is a blasphemy of a set of pretended economists who read Chevalier Bastiat and other authors, without understanding either sense, yet nevertheless they try to pass themselves off as Alexanders, and pretend to do the Gordian knot, unable at the same time to wield the sword which Providence has placed in their hands.

We have been requested, instead of proving that the paper dollar is nothing more nor less than a printed slip to attack the Government and legislators, who have done nothing, and are incapable of doing anything, but we have a better plan to propose, in the most incontestable manner, not only that paper money is becoming less current, but also that the evil of our situation can be remedied by political, rather than by economic, means. We are told that we have raised a false alarm in saying that the paper dollar is no longer money, but we answer that we have not said half enough. We should show our loudest voice 'Look out! Look out!' The paper dollar is worth nothing.

With the figures that we have above shown, it is not sufficient to say that the paper money is becoming less current. Rather let us cry out 'We are all rushing on to heliopolis bankruptcy. It is not for nothing that a nation loses in four years one billion six hundred and eighty millions of dollars, even though they are depreciated paper dollars.

Were it not for the giant progress of this country, national bankruptcy would have sooner arrived. It is the vitality of progress which has saved us, but let us not abuse that vitality. The value of our products has increased since the year 1854 from 316,000,000 to the enormous sum of nine hundred and fifty millions; that is to say, three hundred per cent in ten years. In the whole world there is no found another instance of such rapid increase as this.

Let the economists study our past and present, in order to provide for the future, and explain to the ignorant, in the midst of such unexampled prosperity, the circulating medium has so fearfully depreciated. It is, we insist, and shall insist, that the depreciation of this paper money could only have been made into money under the rule of the most despotic tyrant, one who procribes true money, which is gold and silver. The paper money has not today, and it is past; so also the rule of tyrants in the River Plate.

ARTICLES FOR THE PARIS EXHIBITION.

21. A sample of marble-dust sugar. This native manufacture of first attraction almost as much notice as the one made from sawdust, in Ireland, A. D. 1847. The inventor was said to be a military man, which gave rise to a vulgar prejudice that was destructive of human life. As yet we have had no partial use, among grocers, its sweetening properties being disputed.

22. Wooden barns and nutmegs. These articles have been imported from the United States, and warranted kept in all climates. The sales would keep have exceeded the consumption, but the outlet, and much more, has not been picked. Wooden chocolate has been tried only once, but wooden oranges and other fruits are used at the 'Progreso club.'

23. New map of Europe. Some distinguished Argentine travellers lately returned from explorations in Central and Northern Europe, have determined the exact position of several places not hitherto defined. The following reports are printed on the chart: Cork is a seaport in Holland discovered by Baron Poirer and other Neapolitan travellers. Rome is the capital of the Holy Land. Dublin is a principality of Poland, lately invaded by a tribe of Russians. Sibiri (not Silesia) is a province of Prussia famous for fine sheep. London is a barbarous village where the women actually wear coverings on their heads. Neapolitan music cave inhabited by a monster who feeds on newspapers. Galway is a French port and station for the Atlantic telegraph.

24. Artesian bore. The diagram showing the Baracaras bore, and the several kinds of clay met with. The expense of the works was supplied by a sinking fund contributed in part by the Municipality, the rest by the Sale de las Salinas. It was solemnly inaugurated by President Mitre A.D. 1862, and clearly shows the extent of the Artesian springs in the republic. It differs from the other Artesian wells in having no flow of water. The Balsa porters' former by the foundation-stone of Buenos Ayres, the old names of the streets, a number of blind muleteers and exorcist lanterns, the Lecobas arch, and two street-posters anciently used, for trying horses to.

25. Steenbock's Ink. This lucrative speculation deserves a special notice. The inventor had a patent and supplied all the Government offices. It left an indelible mark, and has been successfully used for copying by Professor Hermann, who made some beautiful impressions lately. The ingredients were supplied by Mr. Eastman; and Sr. Vitello, shirt-maker, can testify to its efficacy for marking linen.

27. Argentine Cotton. The samples from Corrientes, Entre Rios and Santa Fe may be regarded as standard specimens. Guncotton was much used of late years by Sanders and other con-sumers. At present it is not in such demand as the cotton-gin, a favorite beverage with the planters.

28. Ninfado's Plate. A picture by the famous Argentine artist, Sr. Llorens representing the female chorus at Colon Theatre. The subject has been mistaken for Calypso and her nymphs.

29. Statuary. The group, in imitation of the Laocoon of the Vatican, represents Don Lucas Gonzalez struggling with the genius of paper-money and the payment of the army.

30. Mechanical Clock. A handsome piece of mechanism exhibited by Mr. Rom. It marks not only the hours and seasons, but the fluctuations of the money-market, and plays a different tune every day in the year.

Congratulation Extraordinary.

The 'Nacion Argentina' of Tuesday contains a letter congratulating the National Government on the sale of some of its Public Bonds at 41. This is both a novel and absurd proceeding. The Minister of Finance and the Cabinet collectively ought to send the author a civic crown, and the Bond holders present him with a statue of Honor covered with a veil.

To congratulate a Government because its Bonds are not worth half their expressed value, is the greatest foolery ever heard of. This is the only notice which the press of B. Ayres has taken of the Public Bonds. But we will supply some data, showing it to be a phenomenon of economy peculiar to the age, and the solution whereof may afford another subject for congratulation to the able financier who directs our National revenues at present.

The amortization of National Bonds for the quarter ending April 1st, was made at 50; and that of the succeeding quarter, July 1st, at 33, to 34. This shows that Argentine Bonds are falling notably, instead of improving as we might have expected. It would be difficult to find out their value in the stock market, when the holders are forced to amortize them at a loss varying from 67 to 96 per cent. We would like to hear no explanations about this force of gravitation which brings our National credit so low, despite the Minister's efforts.

Unhappy Government, if we judge it by its financial merits. What opportunity can we form of it? In commercial circles hard terms are generally used, when a man pays only 53 per cent. Yet Government, either through culpable ignorance, or knowing fully protects the most scandalous monopoly. Capitalists, who usually seek only 12 per cent interest for their money, in buying National Bonds, at 41, not only obtain fabulous interests, but are moreover sure of gain in their increased value. Meantime the poor creditor sees himself forced to sell out, to meet pressing necessities, and has to submit to the user's joke pronounced by an inept and impoverished Government.

And the Congress which passed these Bonds, has now turned its back on the holders, and wilfully shifts its eyes to the riotous and entangled state of our Finance department.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The 'Corrientes' leaves to-day for Montevideo, and takes a supplementary mail for the packet. 'Standard' subscribers can be sending their letters to our Montevideo agent, Mr. Cranwell, always have them posted free of charge.

General Mitre, the President's brother, has gone to the camp, to take charge of the frontier. It is a strange thing the great difference between the two brothers: the President is a thin, somber, apologetic looking man, whilst his brother the general is a fat jolly looking fellow, more like an English man than an Argentine. We think it would be the President's health good if he would take a run out of town along with us. We can't spare him as far as the frontier, but he might make a tour through the Irish estates—our countrymen would treat him most hospitably, we will answer for that.

The Sultana protocol, leaving the question to arbitration, has after a most stormy discussion, passed in the House of Deputies. One of the opposing deputies stated that what he objected to was not the paying the Sultana claims, but the establishing the precedent, and thus opening the door for a lot of Frenchmen to get in.

The Municipal elections in San Nicolas have at last been approved. Our readers may recollect that owing to the Ordo and Cocido war this town was deprived of a Municipality, but now all is right again.

The Governor of Catamarca has invited President Aguirre, and declared a general amnesty. The last mails from the interior as usual brought in no San Juan silver, nor even any news about the rebellious Riferos.

The National Government has sent in to Congress the accounts for 1893 and 1894. Sr. Ordo has applied for a committee to inspect them; we rather suspect that the accounts sent in contain some novel items.

A member of the Foreign Racing Society has requested us to ask the English club whether natives who speak English can be admitted or not. We think it would be a very good idea to admit all respectable Argentines who wish to join. The gentlemen who called upon us state that he has several native friends who would willingly subscribe both money and horses to support the society. Another gentleman requests us to say that many Portenos who understand English would wish to attend the proposed lectures at the British Library, but they are anxious to know the subject of the lecture first; for ourselves and fellow members of the Library we take upon ourselves to say that all Argentines who wish to attend will be most welcome to seats.

The Northern Railway has received six passenger cars, and expects daily the arrival of two locomotives. We hope to see this line extended to Zarate. The auction at the contractor's yard on Monday went off very well, and things brought full prices.

Dr. Chassagnac has not left the 'Pueblo' as was erroneously stated by the 'Tribuna,' nor has he any intention of giving up his editorial chair.

We hear that the Barraca station of the Southern Railway has been begun, and that the trains are to run from Buenos Ayres to San Vicente on the 1st of November.

The new opera company is expected in Buenos Ayres shortly; it is at present performing at Montevideo with signal success.

Wagers are all the rage at present in Buenos Ayres; it's only fashionable mode of terminating disputes is by making a bet, in fact betting is forced upon one, and no matter how trivial the subject, if there is the slightest difference of opinion, hats, cigars, slips of paper as Mr. Lamas calls the dollars, suppers, breakfasts, and dinners are unobtrusively offered either pro or con. Mr. Wells' balloon is the great thing to bet on now in the immediate vicinity of the municipality and printing offices; on the Balsa the Minister's project is the favourite; cocktails and five thousand dollar bills are freely bid on the fate of the new bill; the betting calendar in town stood as follows at two o'clock yesterday:—That Wells won't get the thing out; that we want a Pepe Salas to play with the market.

The English folks who have arrived from Buenos Ayres, state that things are horribly dull down with you; no balls parties, or fun of any description; they say that the English society is becoming frightfully stiff, and some of your big wigs, who a few years ago were only struggling are now what they consider merchant princes, and won't deign to associate with the rest of the street.

A great many of us here would join your racing society if only asked. Frankly you have too many members already.

The 'Standard' is the only Buenos Ayres paper read here with interest, but sometimes you do publish such extraordinary news about Montevideo that people wonder who is your Oriental correspondent. If we could catch him, we would put him in the stocks, or make him study astronomy.

We hear it said that the deputy Manager of the River Plate Bank in your city is coming to take Mr. Rading's place, whilst others insist that a gentleman is to be sent out from England, which is the correct version. We have a great many very nice young men recently arrived from England, who think of going into sheep farming. They have small capitals, but owing to the revolution they are all going up to Buenos Ayres. Cranwell, your agent, is kept pretty busy answering these sort of customers, who state that in the paper of which he is the agent, it is stated that capital can make sixty per cent per annum. They are anxious to know how this can be done, but he sends them all to Buenos Ayres, where we have no doubt they will soon learn the way.

POLICE CALENDAR.

We are happy to remark that the 'Nacion' now publishes daily a police barometer, showing the state of our moral atmosphere. 1. A German was released from the Police, on Wednesday, after suffering confinement for robbery, but two hours had hardly elapsed when he was again taken up, being detected in flagrante delicto. He begged the consideration of Sr. Ordo pleading the infirmity he labors under; he declares himself a victim to Klugmann.

2. Mr. John Smith has succeeded in catching one of the Englishmen who robbed a private family near the Pto. San Julio. It seems the fellow returned from Patagonas 4 months ago after serving out his time for some peccadillo. He had hardly elapsed when he was himself detected and has more than once escaped through the following manoeuvre. Lying motionless on the ground, he appeared to all intents dead, and when the Alcalde went to look for a stretcher to convey the corpse he escaped over the neighboring 'acotados.'

3. A gentleman who gave a riding card 'P. F. Diaz' was removed to the lock up, having attempted to cut his wife's throat with a razor.

A dress maker levanted last week from a private family near the Pto. San Julio. The wheel of Fortune gave an unlucky turn, and the Police made a prize of her.

ITALIAN OPERA.

Madame Brios's benefit. To-night the talented and popular prima-donna will give her benefit, in the magnificent opera of Norma. Englishmen, as noted for gallantry, will not fail to pay a tribute to the charming artist by attending, more especially, as she will sing in English the soul stirring Irish Melody. 'The last Rose of Summer' with which the name of Brios is now so favorably associated.

But it is not merely for compliment that the public, both native and foreign will fill Colon theatre to-night. There is no opera which so fully brings out the talents of both our prima-donna, as this splendid chef d'œuvre of Bellini, and we are promised a great treat. Between the acts, Mass. Brios will also appear in the comic opera of 'The Englishman in Spain' composed for her by the distinguished professor of music Sig. Augusto Nannetti. Persons wishing to secure seats should apply in time as you may be sure of a full house.

The opera 'due Pescari' was given at Colon on Wednesday evening in an empty house. Never did Gallo, Lolmi and Celestino sing a letter, and the chorus was at times better than usual especially on the opening of Act 3. The orchestra could not be better. The thinness of attendance (hardly 250) may be in part ascribed to the very cold weather, but chiefly because the foreign merchants having been writing all the night previous, for the packet, preferred sleep to music.

Practical Misconception in New York.

According to the New York correspondent of the out-of-town abolition press, practical misconception is making astonishing headway in New York. The Philadelphia Press, on Saturday last, contains a letter from this city which tells the following curious story:— There are many misconceptions of long standing in our midst, and singular enough they have attracted so peculiar attention to themselves prior to the present agitation of the subject.

There are at present two ladies of wealth and former position—politically not known—who have black husbands and who reside in this city without molestation or unpleasant notoriety. One was originally from Bridgewater, Conn., where her family a most respectable one resides. The case of the second is remarkable, and might furnish a page to romance. This lady is a stately magnificent woman, possessing fine intellectual and moral endowments, and a culture in all that pertains to social accomplishments which, perhaps, is only too rarely met with. She was an orphan, and possessed, in her own right, property valued at fifty thousand dollars. Some years ago while riding in her carriage, she was thrown, violently to the pavement, and rendered insensible by the injuries which she sustained...

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK HAUA & CO.,
 No. 103 Calle de Cangallo, BUENOS AYRES.

The business advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great majority of the River Plate, that the Bank of Haue & Co. in Montevideo has already presented for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable deposit for their savings, in the form of a bank which is daily increasing, and already reaches a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, reading men, and accountants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out or invested, than providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the momentary gratification of their passions, and other follies.

The Bank of Haue & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, has after the above facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine o'clock on Week Days, and on Sundays, and Holidays from Ten o'clock on, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The deposit is guaranteed at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Haue & Co. is especially known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank and Co. also intend to present to this new branch of their business will render immediate service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.
